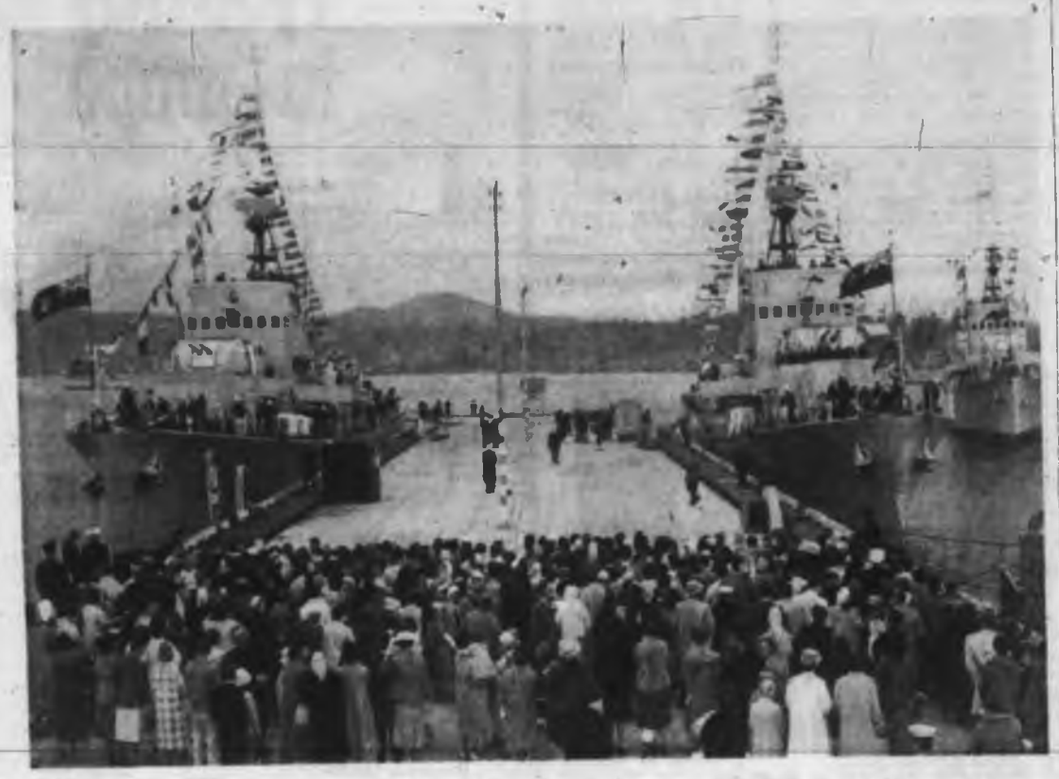
FRENCH GENERALS REVOLT TAKE OVER ALGERIA, SAHARA

Tanganyika First For Peace Corps

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy has announced that the first team of peace corps volunteers had been assigned to Tanganyika to help the African nation map and build roads.

Training in Puerto Rico will condition the volunteers to long route marches, "the worst beds they've slept on in their lives" and to a "monotonous diet" consisting mostly of rice and beans.



'Dressed' Warships Welcomed Home

De Gaulle Leader Arrested

By UPI, AP

ALGIERS — Four French generals opposing President Charles de Gaulle announced today that troops under their command have taken over all of Algeria and the vast Sahara desert, including the French atomic-test area.

A communique signed by two former French commanders in Algeria—Gens. Raoul Salan and Maurice Challe—said a state of siege has been proclaimed in the African territory.

"All powers held by civilian authorities pass completely to the military," said the communique, which was signed also by Gens. Andre Zeller and Edmond Jouhaud.

The communique was the first indication that Salan, last reported living as a refugee in Spain, had returned to Algeria.

POLICE ALERTED

The interior ministry immediately placed police in Paris and throughout metropolitan France on a standby alert against extreme French rightists. Guards around government buildings were given special instructions to be vigilant.

Government officials were hastily summoned to their desks in the early morning hours and there was unusual activity in all offices of top police and defence officials.

TOUGH VETERANS

The French information minister said that troops of the pre-dawn coup were the tough veterans of the first Foreign Legion parachute regiment, which numbers about 4,000 men.

Challe is an air force general who formerly was commander-in-chief in Algeria. He was most recently the commander of NATO's central European forces. He resigned that post in protest against President de Gaulle's European policies.

RADIO SEIZED

The radio in Algiers was in the hands of the insurrectional units. It was off the air early in the morning, then began its daily broadcast with a communique signed by Challe.

The communique proclaimed a state of siege in Algeria and claimed the army had taken power throughout Algeria and the Sahara regions.

SEIZE OFFICIALS

Government officials said the insurgents had seized de Gaulle's civilian administrator, Jean Morin, and placed him under house arrest. Also under house arrest were Robert Buron, the agriculture minister who was visiting in Algiers, and General Fernand Gambiez, the military commander in the city.

The coup apparently took place in the early pre-dawn hours. The telephone lines were suspended about 5 a.m.

Government sources indicated that the soldiers moved in and took over all the main public buildings of Algiers.

The coup came as a complete surprise.

New Arrests Jam Prisons

HAVANA (Reuters) — New arrests crammed Cuba's already-packed jails Friday night as Premier Fidel Castro's return to Havana from operations against the crushed invading forces was awaited.

It was difficult to find anyone in Havana who did not know at least one person under arrest.

Wounded militiamen returning to Havana brought back news of the severity of the fighting. Newspaper photographs showed it was a savage, pitched battle between soldiers with modern weapons.

Havana was quiet and there was no real heroes' welcome for the militia coming back in their Czech-built trucks. The militia waved their rifles. Passersby simply waved back.

FEW TANKS

An almost universal conclusion was that the equipment and loyalty of Castro forces surprised the invaders, who apparently pitted a few Sherman tanks against Castro's known 50 tanks and obsolete planes against MiG fighters—the ownership of which has not yet been acknowledged by the government.

The radio painted a picture of heavy losses suffered by invaders.

Visitors to jails said living conditions for prisoners in overcrowded cells were deteriorating rapidly.

300 PRISONERS

The government named more than 300 prisoners in an announcement Friday.

The national radio earlier gave the first detailed account of fighting since last weekend's landings, lifting a curtain of secrecy that surrounded Castro's movements. It told of his field direction of an operation that forced rebels into a swamp "trap."

INVADERS PINNED

It said Castro pinned the invaders down with artillery fire on both flanks and attacked their centre with riflemen, "forcing the invaders into the marshes, where they were trapped."

More than 350 prisoners were taken in the fighting, including Dr. Jose Miro Torres, son of counter-revolutionary leader Dr. Jose Miro Cardona; the son of Emilio Ochoa, a prominent anti-Castro leader, and three sons of industrialist millionaire Alfredo Babum.

Editor, Publisher, Historic Figure Victor Sifton Dies

WINNIPEG (CP)—Victor Sifton, one of Canada's historic newspaper figures, died suddenly late Friday a few hours after he had taken his usual active part in the day's publication of the Winnipeg Free Press. He was 64.

Mr. Sifton, member of a distinguished Canadian family who added lustre to its name in a wide variety of fields, collapsed and died in his doctor's office at the Winnipeg clinic, where he had gone for a medical checkup.

HEART ATTACK

He died of a heart attack while he was sitting in consultation with his physician.

No plans for funeral services were made immediately as Mrs. Sifton and their son, John, were both away from Winnipeg.

Mr. Sifton, editor and publisher of The Free Press and chairman of the board of F. P. Publications Limited which owns or controls seven Canadian newspapers, was in his office as usual during the morning and presided at the daily editorial conference.

After the paper had gone to press, Mr. Sifton complained of being unwell and went to the office of Dr. Louis Cherniak. He told associates he would visit the physician before going to a dinner engagement.

Albert Boothe, managing editor of The Free Press, said the newspaper head was his usual self at the editorial conference.

Two U.S. Blunders Involved In Cuban Invasion Failure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two major intelligence miscalculations were involved in the failure of anti-Castro Cubans to regain their homeland this week, administration officials said last night.

They said U.S. officials had some doubts about the invasion. But Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Defence Secretary Robert McNamara and the Central Intelligence Agency all agreed with President Kennedy's decision not to discourage the operation.

There was disagreement between the various government agencies as to where the blame lay for intelligence miscalculations. One high source was said to have expressed the view that the entire government was at fault.

Officials said these were the points on which the intelligence came up short:

- There was a major underestimation of Castro's military strength, his ability to mobilize troops and their willingness to fight.
- Both U.S. and Cuban rebel intelligence misjudged the degree of police state control which Castro has over Cuba and which prevented a general uprising of the people.

Officials said it was not known that Castro had Soviet MiG fighter planes in flying condition.

It all began nearly a year ago when Cubans who had fled here began making plans to some day reconquer their island.

Officials insisted that no military training was done here during that period, but took place in Guatemala and presumably other Latin countries.

But the rebel leadership obtained advice here, and supplies were procured.

The Kennedy administration obviously had misgivings over the military venture. But for a variety of reasons it did not try to discourage the uprising, and publicly gave it moral support.

There had been a hope that more of Castro's military forces would defect than the few pilots who bombed their own bases.

Congo Finances

Another Pitfall Facing UN

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — The United Nations fell into a new crisis early today when the 15th General Assembly defeated a measure for interim financing of the UN Congo operation.

The vote was 45 to 25 with 27 abstentions—short of the required two-thirds majority needed for approval—and it came after Canada warned that failure to support the financing measure would cause the UN Congo operation to fall to the ground.

The vote was taken after midnight — when UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold's authorization for spending in the Congo expired.

The new turn for the worse in the UN's long financial dilemma came as the 15th assembly prepared to end its session. It wasn't clear what action might be taken now to provide for the UN Congo force comprising some 17,000 men, including 280 Canadians.

But India proposed a special session of the general assembly be held next week to provide financing of the Congo operation.

UN Action Proves Mild

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — The UN General Assembly early today adopted a mildly worded resolution calling on all countries to take whatever peaceful steps they can to remove the existing tension between the United States and Cuba. (See also Page 3.)

Rebel Captives Star on TV

MIAMI (UPI)—A prisoner from the anti-Castro invasion force last night gave defiant answers to the Cuban officials and newsmen questioning him on a nationwide radio and television program.

Pedro Nunez, a member of one of the island's oldest families, defended the free enterprise system despite questions apparently aimed at threatening him with execution.

One questioner told Nunez: "I would like to discuss these questions further with you after your trial, but I don't think you'll have much time to discuss anything."

Nunez, who said he defected from Castro's army in 1959, said he came to Cuba "to establish a regime of law, under the constitution of 1940."

A paratrooper named Jose Austin Bayona told his questioners he was trained in Guatemala, with some of his instructors North Americans and some Latins, and then taken to Nicaragua.

He said the paratroopers had been instructed to seize highways and territory in the area of the sea landings.

Thieves Get Camera Haul

About $1,500 worth of cameras, projectors and accessories were stolen from Hirst & Flintoff camera store, 1006 Broad, before midnight.

Detectives still were evaluating the theft at press time.

Commons Roughs Up Tory 'Vision'

OTTAWA (CP) — Derision of the government's "northern vision" was alleged and denied Friday in the Commons.

The Liberals deride the vision of Northern development, said Erik Nielsen (PC—Yukon) in a long recital of expansion he said has developed north of the 60th parallel under the Progressive Conservatives.

All the Liberals have derided is the "ballyhoo" created by the government about its northern program, retorted Chesley W. Carter (L—Burin-Burgeo). After all, the Liberals had initiated the vision, creating the department of northern affairs and national resources in 1953.

The political scuffling came during study of the department's $83,000,000 spending program for the current fiscal year.

Douglas Fisher (CCF—Port Arthur) said the vision doesn't point the right way.

Mr. Fisher said resource development lags in spots a lot farther south than the Yukon and Northwest Territories.

Conservative supporters stoutly defended Northern Affairs Minister Dinsdale, appointed last October and facing his first Commons examination, against a suggestion Thursday night that he hasn't done much.

It was made by Mr. Fisher, who expressed disappointment with Mr. Dinsdale's record so far in a department that the CCF MP said needs vigorous leadership.

Bumps, Bruises, Break

Comparing bumps and breaks resulting from collision of their two bicycles Thursday are Larry Davis, 8, of 1397 St. David, left, and John Pearson, 7, of 1248 St. David. John, who broke small bone in his wrist, wanted to see bump on Larry's head that put him in Royal Jubilee Hospital with possible concussion. Both are doing well.—(Colonist photo.)

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

WHAT happened to the phonograph? They call it a "record-player" now. And if you can remember when they called it a "gramophone," you're old, old.

I can remember, I'm afraid. I'm still comparatively young, I keep telling myself, but every so often I absent-mindedly reach down an antique phrase and use it, the way a man might grab an old moth-eaten hat from the cupboard in the dark, and wear it down the street.

The other day I stopped myself just in time from saying "magic lantern." I quickly amended it to "slide projector"—the tame, colorless and enutral phrase that you must use nowadays.

I looked in the dictionary. "Magic lantern" is still listed there, but in speech it is far out of style. I'm sorry about that. It brings to mind a simple, whole-hearted world of marvels and adventure, when people still were naive enough to be fascinated by an unmoving picture on a screen.

* * *

Now we are ashamed of that old enthusiasm, and we try to show our sophistication by using a gray, leaden phrase like "slide projector." How wrong we are—and how dull.

The words "gramophone" and "phonograph" are not loaded with the same kind of power. "Gramophone" conjures up a picture of a scratchy, wind-up machine with a big horn. "Phonograph" makes me think of a more pretentious machine in a cabinet, playing tunes of the 1930s and 1940s.

Neither of these words has much color. But "record-player" is totally flat and limp. Surely we could have done better than that. Someone should offer a prize for the best words to describe new inventions.

* * *

Not long ago I caught myself saying: "Well, it's nearly time to buy a new bathing-suit."

It came as a shock to realize how outdated that remark was. The last time that men and boys wore bathing suits was in the 1930s—early 1930s, at that.

Since then, the term has been "swimming trunks" — or to be more up-to-date — "swim trunks." Nobody bathes. Nobody has bathed for 20 years. The word has almost Victorian connotations. Now, everybody "swims"—even if they can't swim a stroke.

* * *

It will be quite a number of years until I apply for a pension, but I am old enough to remember the days when man and boys wore bathing suits. Often they rolled them down to the waist.

Long after trunks had come into general use, there still were some gaffers who clung to their bathing suits. (Maybe they were gaffers in their 30s and 40s, seen through a youngster's eyes.)

Sometimes, on a warm and dark summer night, we would plunge into a pool of the river with no suits or trunks on—a very old-fashioned style of swimming which is modern enough to be illegal, even today.

field of interest for Mr. Sifton, and on his last day at work he followed closely the developments in Cuba as they were received on The Canadian Press teletype in the newspaper's editorial room.

LAST SERIES

Mr. Sifton's last series of articles published in The Free Press dealt with the Latin American situation. He attended the meeting of the Organization of American States last summer and wrote the series on his return in August. Late this winter he made a trip to Venezuela to study the situation at first hand.

While his activities ranged over many enterprises—from war hero to company director—his greatest interest was in the field of journalism.

TOWERING FIGURE

He became president and publisher of The Free Press in 1944, succeeding the late John W. Dafoe—another towering figure in Western Canadian journalism. Then in July, 1959, in association with Calgary publisher Max Bell, he formed F. P. Publications Limited, which owns or controls The Free Press, The Free Press Weekly, the Ottawa Journal, the Calgary Albertan, The Lethbridge Herald, the Victoria Daily Times and The Daily Colonist.

Mr. Bell is president of F. P. Publications and R. S. Malone of Winnipeg is vice-president and general manager.

MAJOR VENTURE

His first major newspaper venture was with the Regina Leader-Post, where he became publisher during the difficult depression years. Later he moved on to the Winnipeg Free Press, long regarded as the parent publication of the Sifton family publications.

He was president of the Canadian Daily Newspapers Association in 1938 and of The Canadian Press, the national news co-operative, from 1948 to 1950. He also was prominent in the work of the Commonwealth Press Union.

FIFTH SON

He was born in Ottawa March 17, 1897, the fifth son of Sir Clifford Sifton, the lawyer, publisher and statesman whose name was synonymous with the opening of the Canadian West.

He left university at the age of 17 to serve overseas in the First World War and worked in the brokerage and export business in Canada, the United States and China before settling into the newspaper field as the major interest of his career.

SON SURVIVES

Mr. Sifton, the youngest of Sir Clifford's sons, was married in 1925 to Louise Macdonald, daughter of Brig. W. C. Macdonald of Brig. W. C. Macdonald of Toronto. Besides Mrs. Sifton he is survived by a son, John William, general manager of The Free Press, and two daughters, Carolyn Arma and Arma Louise. Arma was one of the Christian names of Mr. Sifton's mother.

A tall erect, commanding figure, Mr. Sifton gave an appearance of austerity which was quickly dispelled by a warm smile. He was a man of strong personal convictions and was adamant after reaching a studied decision.

SHOWING HORSES

A strict disciplinarian, he neither smoked nor drank. But one of his greatest outside interests was the riding, breeding and showing of horses.

A combat hero in the First World War and a behind-the-scenes trouble-shooter in the second, he founded after the Second World War the Canadian Ordnance Association, a civilian body interested in defence preparedness.

ACTIVE PART

In the post-war years he also took an active part in the university administration. He was appointed chancellor of the University of Manitoba in 1952 after having served for some years on the university's board of governors.

He owned and maintained Sir Clifford's old family summer home near Brockville, Ont., one of the landmarks of the Thousand Islands, and visited Brockville just over a month ago, for the marriage of his daughter Carolyn to Earl Leonard Crowe of Ottawa. His other daughter, Arma, is married to Donald Kennedy of Manotick, Ont.

Mr. Sifton's career in the First World War won him the Distinguished Service Order. He was wounded in 1915 in action in France but refused to return to Canada as a staff officer, and by the last month of the war was in command of his unit, the Fourth Canadian Mounted Rifles, at the age of 22.

A fellow officer once said of him: "Victor Sifton's physical courage was amazing. Many a time when the rest of us were petrified he didn't show any sign of fear." On one occasion he went out into no-man's-land to bring back a wounded man.

His career in the Second World War, when he served as a civilian after refusing high military rank, was described by the late C. D. Howe, then munitions and supply minister, as one of "very exceptional service for Canada in a most important field." He was named a Commander of the Order of the British Empire for his work in organizing research, supply and distribution as master general of ordnance. He flew the Atlantic to make a survey of the Canadian Army's needs overseas and on return organized a smooth-working department that provided a steady flow of equipment in an operation rated as the largest single merchandising business in Canada.

Mr. Sifton was born into a political atmosphere as the son of a member of Sir Wilfred Laurier's cabinet, but he never ran for public office himself. Under Mr. Sifton The Free Press continued its political affiliation as Independent Liberal but it frequently criticized the Liberal government, particularly for its wheat policy.

Its masthead proclaimed, as it had done in the days of John Dafoe, "Freedom of trade, liberty of religion and equality of civil rights."

Leaders Laud Sifton

WINNIPEG (CP) — Prominent Manitobans have joined in paying tribute to Winnipeg newspaper publisher Victor Sifton who died Friday.

Premier Duff Roblin said "there will be a sincere and deep regret among all who knew Victor Sifton.

"In our personal relationship, I remember Mr. Sifton as a kind and generous person.

"Mr. Sifton was a man of firm beliefs and he was widely recognized as a man of principle."

Lieutenant-Governor Errick Willis: "The people of Manitoba will be shocked to learn of the death of Victor Sifton. Throughout this Dominion, Mr. Sifton was well-known as a newspaper publisher, a sportsman and as an outstanding influential Canadian."

Sifton Death Great Loss Says Business Partner

CALGARY (CP)—G. Max Bell, president of FP Publications said last night, "the passing of Victor Sifton is a great loss to Canada. He was a fine person and a great newspaper man. He will be greatly missed as a friend and as a business associate."

On and Off Dieting Helps Form Wrinkles

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, MD

"Dear Dr. Molner: What causes facial wrinkles in some people and not in others of the same age? Is there anything that can be done about them? —Mrs. F. M."

It's true that some people wrinkle sooner than others. This is the bane more often of women than of men, because wrinkles sometimes add distinction or "strength" to a man's face. Wrinkles aren't a result of changes in the skin alone. True, the skin loses its elasticity with time.

But along with the gradual change in skin tautness, there is sagging of the underlying tissues. As these tissues — fibrous tissues — gradually change shape, buckle or sag, the skin does not change in size to conform. Rather, the skin folds or bends into creases—"wrinkles."

NOT WELCOME

So wrinkling is perfectly logical and understandable, even if it is not especially welcome to some of us.

Skin of necessity stretches as we put on weight. It does not so readily contract as we shed weight. So this becomes an added factor and a significant one.

From observation, I would say that over-exposure to the sun probably plays a part, too. Certainly getting a reasonable amount of sun is very good for us. But persistent baking ourselves to a shoe-leather tan is much better avoided.

Some people accentuate wrinkles by facial expression—they scowl easily or frequently. In time wrinkles become permanently set.

ACTIVE PLAY

This does not mean that one should go around being an expressionless deadpan. On the contrary, an active play of expression on the face doubtless is helpful in keeping up the tone of muscles, skin and other tissues.

For that matter, massage of face and neck tend to firm up these tissues a bit, but eventually, of course, you have to expect your fair share of wrinkles.

How to get rid of wrinkles? I don't know, short of plastic surgery.

GOOD TRIM

How to avoid them, as much as we can? Stay in good physical trim. Don't let yourself put on excess weight, because when you take it off again, it's an invitation to wrinkling.

And above all, don't go through the repeated cycle of getting fat, reducing, then doing the whole thing over again. Such repeated stretching and contracting of the skin takes its toll.

"Dear Dr. Molner: My doctor told me there are polyps on the bladder and if certain discomfort continued, there should be an examination under anesthesia. Can't polyps stay the same as long as one lives?—Mrs. J. D. B."

Bladder polyps may not stay the same. They may ulcerate and cause bleeding and distress, they may become malignant, they may provoke infection. And that's enough to show why your doctor's advice was right.

* * *

"Dear Dr. Molner: My father is 73, has been a hard-working farmer, but six months ago the doctor diagnosed him as having Parkinson's Disease.

"He began taking nicotinic acid pills. Now he is complaining about failing sight and wants to stop taking the pills. Does nicotinic acid affect eyesight, and should he cut down on the pills?—R. M."

I have never experienced any problem of nicotinic acid impairing eyesight, and the drug is one of several which is being used for Parkinsonism. The dosage which you mentioned in your letter is not large.

Therefore I suspect that something else is responsible for the disturbed eyesight. Your doctor would be the best judge as to whether to try an altered medication.

There are five bedrooms and adequate plumbing facilities. The unsurpassed views encompass the Straits, Sooke Hills, the City and the Mainland coastal mountain range. The exterior is deceiving in that it does not convey a true impression of the magnificent interior. Get there—this will soon sell at the ridiculously low price of $29,750 (£10,740/1/5) with easy terms.
P.S. My dear friend, Miss Agatha Ogilethorpe, will be there to serve you tea and toasted crumpets! . . . (I would have been there—but unfortunately I fell off my horse and suffered a broken monocle—frightfully distressing!)

Would Have Shot His Own Father Eichmann Says

JERUSALEM (Reuters) — Adolf Eichmann sees himself as a Nazi bureaucrat who refuses to kill and thus saved more than 2,000,000 Jews from the holocaust of Nazi Germany, it emerged at his trial here Friday.

But he is also a self-confessed fanatic who would have killed his father on orders; a man who found "fulfilment" in blind obedience.

Eichmann's own voice told the story as a court listened to tape recordings of parts of his pre-trial interrogation. The audience heard chief interrogator Capt. Avner Less ask Eichmann if he had nothing to do with the deaths of 6,000,000 Jews. When Eichmann said he hadn't Less asked: "But the transports for the killing were provided, and the people were delivered up for killing?"

Extermination Plan

Eichmann, who described himself as the "transport officer" in Hitler's extermination plan, replied:

"Well, yes, that is correct, captain, in so far as I received the order for evacuation, but not everybody whom I evacuated was killed. I knew nothing about that.

"I myself did not kill, for otherwise 2,400,000 would not have been found again when the counting took place."

Less, Berlin-born Israeli police chief, snapped back:

"The fact that Jews were found was not to your credit, but to the credit of the allies who won the victory. If the war had gone on longer, then these 2,000,000, too, probably would have no longer been alive."

Eichmann tried to explain his feelings during Hitler's reign.

Found Fulfilment

"I blindly obeyed my orders, and in that . . . I found my fulfilment.

"If someone had said to me at that time, 'Your father is a traitor,' and I had to kill him, I would have done it."

Asked by Less whether he would not have asked for a little evidence before shooting his father, Eichmann replied: "Captain, I do not think we would have paid any attention to that."

Less questioned Eichmann about Nazi documents requesting his department's aid in providing 150 skulls of "Jewish-Bolshevist commissars."

Eichmann indignantly denied that he was a "dealer in dead men's skulls."

The skulls were destined for an anthropological collection being performed by Professor August Hirt, director of anatomy at Strasbourg University, who disappeared during the final stages of the last war.

New Engine Hurls X-15 To 50 Miles a Minute

EDWARDS AIR BASE, Calif. (UPI)—The X15 yesterday carried Maj. Robert White to a record 3,140 miles an hour—50 miles a minute—on the first full-power trial of an engine intended to hurl the pilot-controlled rocket plane to the fringe of space.

Unlike the Russian cosmonaut, White had control of the stubby research plane from the time it was dropped from a B52 bomber at 45,000 feet over the Mojave desert.

The 36-year-old aviator—who admitted a series of minor problems kept him "quite busy" during the 11-minute flight—reached top speed at 80,000 feet to break his six-week-old record of 2,905 mph.

White said after the flight, fourth record run in a row for the X15, he felt it would reach its goal of 4,000 mph by allowing the engine to burn longer.

The X15's peak of mach 4.8 was fast enough to reach Los Angeles from New York in about 40 minutes.

His "minor problems" were trouble starting the 57,000-pound thrust engine and a small leak in the cabin at ...00 feet. White was weightless for about a minute at the top of the flight arc.

'No Nation Is Too Small To Join Commonwealth'

* * *

Diefenbaker Declares

TORONTO (UPI) — Prime Minister Diefenbaker yesterday rejected suggestions that some British colonies and territories were too small to join the Commonwealth.

Speaking to the St. George's Society here, Diefenbaker said: "I believe it would be against the whole concept of the Commonwealth to make artificial distinctions among members whereby some would be designated as second-class for reasons of size, population, economic or military strength."

The prime minister said there will probably be six applications for membership from smaller states within the next few years, including one by Tanganyika this December.

The inclusion of the smaller countries "will enable the Commonwealth to proceed further in attaining the values which it now possesses as a bridge between the continents, between nations of different colors, different religions and different backgrounds," he said.

Drawing the Line

THE Cuba revolt has been smashed, and easily at that. Reports suggest it was ill-timed, inadequate in strength, and failed to gain the support of Cubans expected to rise in mass against the Castro regime. Premier Castro moved swiftly and with much more power than he himself faced when he overthrew the Batista government.

In the result thousands of anti-Castro sympathizers have been herded into hurriedly constructed concentration camps, known rebel leaders have been arrested, and order restored with an iron hand. Some insurgents have managed to reach the mountains where Castro carried on his long guerrilla warfare before ousting Batista, and probably hope to emulate his example. But Castro is established stronger than ever.

His victory is in a sense now becoming clear as much over the U.S.A. as over his own dissident nationals. The failure of the revolt does validate Mr. Adlai Stevenson's defence at the United Nations that America took no military part in the uprising. The U.S.A. could take Cuba by force in five minutes if it were so inclined. But in the absence of success its open siding with the rebels and the extent of its indirect help create a blow to American prestige.

The revolt was stage-managed by anti-Castro exiles in New York, volunteer recruitment apparently went on there unimpeded, and over a period stretching back to the Eisenhower administration supplies and training aid were furnished by the U.S.A. America thus had a definite hand in the attempted ouster of Castro, although its intelligence agency seems to have read the signs badly.

There is no mistaking the reaction of President Kennedy. He has made it as plain as could be that America has no intention of allowing Cuba to fall into the Communist orbit. That would create a close and dangerous threat to American security. Unilateral action by the U.S.A. would be against tradition and international obligation—hence the indirect nature of help the rebels received—but America will not shrink from the point of no return if this becomes necessary.

Moscow can scarcely ignore the warning contained in these words: "I am determined upon our system's survival and success, regardless of the cost and regardless of the peril."

That makes plain that Cuba is one battleground of the cold war from which the U.S.A. will not retreat. Castro is a lesser evil when set against the implications of his alignment with Moscow. Come what may Cuba will not be allowed to become a satellite of the Soviet system.

A Rose by Another Name

THERE appears to be growing, in the road transportation business, a social distinction between the bus and the motor coach.

The bus is pictured as the vehicle for the passenger who has no car; has his licence suspended, his car repossessed, or has no friends to give him a lift. The bus passenger rattles a few coins into the operator's box and then rattles to where he wants to go.

On the other hand, the motor coach is held to be a prestige vehicle providing reclining seats, air conditioning, air-ride, individual service, and an assurance of a pleasant trip.

The theme is interesting to Victoria because at present on the south-east corner of the Empress Hotel grounds a new home is being built for the Vancouver Island Coach Lines. Most of the routes operated by this company are in the motor coach "prestige" class—such as the coach-ferry service to Vancouver either by Swartz Bay or Nanaimo.

So the company carefully points out that its new building in the heart of Victoria's touristdom will be a Motor Coach Terminal, and not a mere Bus Depot. Inside, its accommodation will be known as a passenger concourse and not as a waiting room.

Furthering the class distinction of the operation, its manager claims it could equally be called a garden terminal. In the plans are surrounding flower gardens, planters, and window boxes.

Its manager hopes that every day during the season he will be able to pluck a rose for his buttonhole as he enters his office.

Whatever one may feel about the social status of buses or coaches, it is at least encouraging that the company is meeting some local criticism of the location of the terminal by making sure that the utilitarian nature of the building will be disguised to harmonize with the pleasant surroundings.

Saanich Dilemma

SAANICH council, and the people of Saanich, may understandably be of two minds about the proposal of the Dominion Construction Company to establish a 70-acre industrial estate south of the Trans-Canada Highway between Burnside and Admirals.

Nearby residents, rallying to oppose rezoning for this development, have good reason to object to it from their own point of view.

An industrial estate, no matter how smoke-free and attractively designed, is hardly likely to increase or sustain the value of homes in the vicinity. Beyond that, a spokesman appears right in saying that this is one of the least-favored parts of Saanich: "For us in the Burnside-Admirals Road area it is pole yards and industrialization. We feel we deserve some parks in this area before the land is all gone."

There is a broader basis for opposition, too. The industrial development would eliminate, in the form proposed, an area of pleasant meadowland beside the highway, a joy to residents and non-residents alike.

But on the other hand, for Saanich municipality as a whole, there is strong argument for permitting and encouraging the development.

Industry and commerce are badly needed in Saanich. Industrial and commercial properties, with their high assessments, can do much to ease the burden of taxation on homes, and this industrial development alone presumably would make a most significant and welcome contribution to Saanich municipal revenue. All municipal taxpayers would suffer for rejection of the proposal.

Under these circumstances, it would seem that compromise, if compromise can be achieved, would be the best way out of the dilemma. Councillor Gregory Cook has suggested that the eight acres of meadowland be rezoned for farming to preserve it. Saanich patently needs the industry, but perhaps some preservation of pastoral scenery, and some beautification in the industrial area, could be guaranteed.

Interpreting the News

He Wishes Both Away

By PHIL NEWSOM, UPI Foreign News Analyst

THE Laotian soldier has shown a marked distaste for violent death.

In this, he displays a characteristic common to most intelligent men.

But in a nation wracked by civil war, with great issues between two bitterly opposed philosophies at stake, he also shows no great desire to inflict punishment on or to subdue his enemies.

In the administrative capital of Vientiane along the muddy Mekong River, life goes on as if there were no war less than 40 miles to the north.

Despite reports of fierce clashes, the war itself seems a haphazard affair involving a few pieces of artillery, some outmoded airplanes and sporadic clashes over such unlikely place names as Van Vieng, Pahom and the Plain of Jars.

Along the banks of the Mekong, meandering now among sandbars in the dry season, Chinese merchants pull back their metal grills just after dawn to draw customers before the city dozes again in the hot midday sun.

There is no confusion, no soaring prices, no black market.

Rice, fish and other commodities may be purchased at prices fixed months ago. Prices on some foreign goods have gone up under pressure of the foreigners who have poured into the capital.

With help of the United States, the Laotian kip has remained stable at a rate of 80 to $1.

In all this there seems no significance.

Except for a minority on either side, neither the western democracies nor the Communists have been able to export their opposing philosophies successfully to Laos.

The Communists would take it by conquest, using as their instrument the hard core native Pathet Lao.

United States aid to Laos over the last few years now hovers around the billion-dollar mark.

Its purpose has been two-fold: first, to supply arms and training to the Laotians to permit them to defend themselves against aggressive Communism, and, second, to build a free society which of its own accord would choose to align itself with the democracies.

The Communist nations realized years ago the value of propaganda and infiltration among peoples whose freedom still was far in the future. That is why, when the freedom did come to nations of Asia and Africa, trained, native Communist leaders were ready for their assignments.

And so, typified in Laos, lies democracy's monumental task—to regain lost time while simultaneously holding back Communism's relentless march.

As for the native of Laos, he just wishes both sides would take their war elsewhere.

Politicians

Vain—But They Work

By CASSANDRA, from London

POLITICIANS are not popular people.

To take the job at all pre-supposes more self-esteem than is good for any man.

The very assumption by any or all of our 630 MPs that they are qualified to lead a nation of nearly 50,000,000 people means that they have got a pretty fair nerve to start with.

Direct personal contact reinforces this view. The flower of modesty does not flourish at Westminster.

* * *

Now our MPs are planning to pay themselves higher pensions that, in certain cases, might amount to nearly £1,000 a year.

I am all for it.

And in case you may think that you have not heard me correctly the first time, I repeat—I AM ALL FOR IT.

They work like the devil (the eight-hour day seems like a rest cure after an all-night sitting), they have to bear heavy expenses out of their own pockets, they are quite inadequately paid and some are genuinely needy.

They control a national budget of £5,958,000,000 and each one of them (office-holders in the Government and the Leader of the Opposition excepted) does the job for £1,750 a year.

If they plead their own case for a pay increase they are lost and are condemned in the eyes of the ignorant.

Bribery. Jobs for the boys. Vote yourself a good time.

So I, knowing something of their vanity—but also knowing a good deal of their sense of public service and sometimes their honest passion, will speak up for them.

Pay 'em the money, Barney!

Verbal Crutches

We are more and more turning to stock words and phrases. They are used like crutches and millions of people hobble along the verbal highways with their aid.

Some time ago it was "I couldn't care less."

Even people who did care deeply found themselves mouthing that they couldn't care less.

Then there was "The Image."

No politician dared to make a speech without referring to "The Image."

The big political conferences held in the autumn were peppered with images. Scarborough was transformed into a hall of mirrors. Images were fired like lead from a shotgun and embodied in every oration.

Right now a particularly pointless cliche is being dragged yapping and struggling into countless conversations. People riddle their talk with "this day and age."

Since it doesn't mean anything it can be used endlessly and in any circumstance—in this day and age.

Finally, though not quite in the same category, there is the highly popular and sombre euphemism which is increasingly applied to a man who is usually suspected of murder.

When he spends hours on end being questioned at the cop shop and subjected to severe and often highly unpleasant interrogation far into the night he is generally described as "helping the police."

White is White

I see that the advisory committee of Independent Television has recommended that the soap and detergent boys should no longer advertise on our television screens that somebody's powder washes whiter and brighter than that of their nearest rival.

Under the new rules they can say that white is okay, that whiter is okay and that whitest is also okay.

But if they compare their white, whiter and whitest with their nearest competitor, that is not okayest, okayer—or even okay.

The laugh about all this, to me, is that something is either white—or it is not white.

You cannot improve on white.

And any comparison with white—such as whiter or whitest—is the same as saying that the best, betterest and the bestest is the daddy of them all.

So from now, no I'll wear the dirtiest, dirtier and dirty shirt of the lot.

Washington Calling

Struggle Was Urgent

By MARQUIS CHILDS

INTERRUPTING the prolonged and painful debate over what might have been in Cuba has come the struggle for the overthrow of Fidel Castro and the dictatorship he has imposed.

The urgency behind the struggle is seen in the intelligence reports here indicating the length to which Castro and his allies in the Communist bloc were preparing to go in the military defence of the island. According to reports widely credited here, Castro was about to receive from the Soviet Union two destroyers.

They would arrive in Havana harbor with Soviet crews under the Cuban flag. Presumably these crews eventually would train Cubans to take over. Four more destroyers were promised for a later date, according to the same reports.

For responsible officials here in Washington this began to add up to a military force, naval and air, so formidable that no action by exiles from without and disaffected Cubans from within could overthrow it. Only direct intervention by the United States could restrain or nullify the air and naval strength supplied by the Communist bloc.

That intervention has been, in the belief of many who have followed the Cuban tragedy, perhaps the principal goal of the Communists. They have wanted to put the United States in the role Soviet Russia played in moving into Hungary in 1956 to suppress the Hungarian revolt against Soviet occupation. "We will give them back Hungary a hundred times over," was the way one of the Cuban Communists is reported to have put it.

This suggests one of the major hazards in the present moment. The Castro-Communist propaganda will make an all-out effort throughout the hemisphere to put the label of "Yankee invasion" on what has now happened. Whether it sticks or not depends on a great many factors, some of them quite beyond the control of Washington.

In the long-drawn-out discussion within the government here those risks were fully canvassed. But officials came back always to one grim fact: the growing military strength of the Castro regime and the rapidly diminishing time span before any action other than concerted open American military might could be effective against what had become in recent months an ever-more tightly controlled Communist enclave on the American doorstep.

The promised Soviet jet fighters were reported by intelligence sources to have arrived in Havana. While uncrating and assembling them under the direction of Soviet technicians would take some time, it would not be long before this force could take to the air. For at the same time a hundred or more Cuban pilots trained in Czechoslovakia had completed their course of intensive instruction and were returning to man the planes.

This could hardly be judged a serious threat to the United States. Yet the power of harrassment of such a force in the Caribbean was taken very seriously within the government here. It could be restrained, and this was the point to which policy-makers invariably came back, only by direct action with American military force. In other words, if the force that seemed about to come into being was actually assembled, then action that could be branded "another Hungary" was clearly in prospect.

In reviewing the history of the Castro regime, officials of the Kennedy Administration found the mistakes of the past year and a half glaring enough. Of the many messes inherited by the new President, Cuba could be put high on the list.

Cutting Cuba's sugar quota had forced an economic crisis. This was a boon to Washington's powerful sugar lobby, which played devious politics in the Caribbean. It meant for Castro a much greater degree of dependence on the Communist bloc.

But, as in the Laotian crisis, it was decided, in the words of one of the principal policy-makers, to throw no bricks at the past. The President was faced with a fact—the extraordinarily grim and menacing fact of the Communist takeover in Cuba—and not a theory. He came down hard against any "invasion" such as in the last months of the Eisenhower Administration had been organized and planned for.

Whatever happens now in Cuba, no one minimizes the troubles still to come.

Gerald Waring

Reports From Ottawa

PROFESSOR Northcote Parkinson of Parkinson's Law would feel right at home browsing among the statistics of government here — statistics that bear out his observations about the propensity of government to proliferate.

For example, nine years ago—in June, 1952—it took 159,873 civil servants (not including employees of Crown corporations like the CNR) to administer the affairs of this country of 14,459,000 people. That was one civil servant for every 90¼ citizens.

By January, 1961, the civil service had increased to 202,890, the population to 18,041,000, for a ratio of one civil servant for every 89 citizens.

However, if you work out the ratio between the civil service increase of 43,017, and the population increase of 3,582,000, you find that the new civil servants are handling only 83¼ citizens each! Are they not as efficient? Are the new citizens more work than the old? Are the older civil servants—those who handled 90¼ citizens each in 1952—slowing down on the job? Or are there now so many civil servants that they're falling over each other, duplicating efforts, filling out forms, and doing other things that reduce their per capita output.

* * *

Then take cabinets. A cabinet is a committee, and the bigger a committee the more cumbersome, unwieldy, windy and indecisive it is. Experienced committee people say the best size is three, five or seven members.

Canadian cabinets have always been too big because of political necessity they have been made to double as a sort of superparliament with representatives of all parts of the country and all major ethnic and religious groups. Ten years ago Prime Minister St. Laurent had a cabinet of 21. Today Prime Minister Diefenbaker has a cabinet of 24.

In Britain they beat the problem by having a small executive cabinet, and a larger number of ministers of state outside the cabinet—members of the government, second class. Prime Minister Diefenbaker admired this system, and said in the fall of 1957 that he would prefer a cabinet of not more than a dozen ministers.

* * *

The advent of John Fisher in the East Block to become executive assistant and publicity man for Diefenbaker at a reported $25,000 a year (partly made up from Tory party funds) points up the proliferation of ministerial aides.

On June 1, 1957, a recent report to the Commons states, the Liberal ministers had a total of 37 executive assistants, private secretaries and associate and assistant private secretaries.

On March 1, 1960, the Conservative ministers had 73 aides in these and two new categories: special assistant and press secretary. And still their ranks grow—like Fisher.

Professor Parkinson wouldn't be surprised.

To Ensure Peace

Sweden Ready to Fight

By ROLAND HUNTFORD, from Kiruna

THE snowbound streets of the isolated iron mining town of Kiruna above the Arctic Circle in Lappland, reveal a sight unusual in Sweden; large numbers of soldiers in uniform. They are ski troops engaged on a course in winter warfare. Kiruna is the headquarters of the "Jagars," the men trained to defend the forests and fells of northern Sweden. Carrying loads of 50 pounds, these soldiers cover 20 miles or more daily for days on end, sleeping in the snow. Fit and hardy, they are the elite of Sweden's citizen army.

While welcoming discussion on co-existence and disarmament, the Swedes accept belligerence as a regrettable but unavoidable side of human nature. As a corollary, they believe that constant preparedness is the only way to deter a potential attacker and the only course of action to ensure the continuance of the century and a half of peace and neutrality which they have so far enjoyed.

The men on manoeuvres in this difficult country symbolize the Swedish belief that today, even more than in the past, it is the individual soldier that counts rather than his weapons. Nuclear devices have had no hypnotic effect here, and the Swedes are convinced that if ever they are involved in hostilities, these will be of the conventional kind. In fact, it is the only chance they would have of survival. They have spent the years since the arrival of atomic weapons turning their country into a target unworthy of nuclear attack.

They have constructed H-bomb shelters for their navy in rocky islands off the coast, put essential command posts and factories underground or inside mountains, while arranging evacuation for most of the populations of their big cities and providing shelters for those who would have to remain in order to keep important services working. Industry has been widely scattered, defence installations equally decentralised, and army tactics are based upon small groups of men operating independently over large areas. Having thus taken precautions against sudden nuclear destruction, they have proceeded to adapt themselves to conventional warfare under modern conditions.

* * *

Swift mobilization is the core of Swedish planning, and the general staff estimates that it can mobilize about 700,000 men within a few days. The total population is about 7,000,000.

There is universal military service, and every man is aware that at a moment's notice he will have to drop tools and report for duty.

Many of the senior army officers served as volunteers in the Russo-Finnish winter war of 1939-40. The lessons they learned, they believe, can be applied to modern conditions. The most important is that, operating in forest land, small units operating independently can hold their own against greatly superior numbers.

Reasonably enough the Swedish general staff has based its planning upon the assumption that any enemy—and it normally looks eastward in this connection—will be superior in numbers and more heavily armed. They are helped in their defence task by the country itself which, being a thousand miles long, undulating and intersected by rivers, lakes and marshes, and with over half its area covered by forest, favors guerilla and independent tactics.

Concentration upon conventional weapons does not mean that the Swedes have chosen to ignore the nuclear variety. On the contrary, they are very conscious of them, particularly since they believe that the greatest effect of the H-bomb is the fear of its being used. Swedish soldiers are taught how to avoid injury, quite near the epicentre of nuclear explosions, by correctly digging themselves in. This may seem bizarre in a world still reeling from Nagasaki and Hiroshima, but there are occasions when the Swedish lack of imagination has its advantages.

They are far more worried about such modern refinements as nerve gases and biological weapons as practical possibilities.

With Finland neutralized, the Swedes realize that they are now a buffer state, or more correctly, a border land, with about 1,500 miles of coast and land frontier facing east. What is more, they back onto Norway, a NATO country. Their neutrality in any future conflict would be problematical, in spite of their avoidance of all forms of military alliance for, as one of their officials has said: "We are not on Attackers' Road Number One, that we know, but we are not on Number One Hundred and Twelve either."

Above All, They Talk

By GREGORY CLARK

WITH the growing sophistication of childhood it is understandable that many of the games that engrossed the interest of the outgoing generation, when it was young, should have died out. It was the motor car usurping the streets that gradually put an end to the game of marbles. With cars parked heel and toe along all the curbs, how could the modern boy play marbles in the gutter all the way to school and all the way home? Run sheep run, hide and seek—how could you really go hiding off in all directions when it is death to step off the curb?

But mostly it has been sophistication that has been the death of most games of forty years ago. Children don't want to be children any more. In what little time they have to spare from TV, they want to be lawmen, gunslingers, spacemen, and above all, conversationalists. TV's greatest inspiration to the young is yak.

What we oldies miss most are the tops. Not a candy shop, toy shop, cigar store or hardware store in town but had a whole bin of painted wooden tops on diplay in its windows at this season of the year. For a cent you could get a dandy, string and all. And for five cents you could get a varnished one, with an extra long sharp spike, which would spin five minutes and shoulder off the sidewalk or the schoolyard planks all competitors. There was a style and skill in spinning a top, a growing sense of mastery, and a respect for decent silence as you squatted down to admire the miracle.

Facts Promised 'In Due Time'

Kennedy Throws Cloak of Secrecy Over Personal Role in Cuba Invasion

'National Interest' Keeps News Dark

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy, close-lipped about his own role in the anti-Castro invasion of Cuba, said Friday the U.S. is engaged in "active efforts" to help Americans and others who might be in danger in Cuba.

Kennedy did not elaborate at his news conference except to say the U.S. was consulting with Western hemisphere neighbors on the Cuban crisis.

He said he was withholding information at this time on any role he might have played in the Cuban invasion on grounds it would not be in the national interest. He said the facts would be revealed in due time.

Shortly after the conference, the president held a flurry of unannounced White House conferences with top administrative and Congressional leaders about the Cuban crisis.

Lot of Information

Kennedy told the 402 reporters at the conference they would receive a lot of background information from government officials in a day or so.

For the time being, he said, he had "good reason" to stand on his statement Thursday that U.S. patience with Communist infiltration of Latin America was not inexhaustible and that the U.S. might intervene alone if necessary to counter Red aggression.

The president said no useful purpose would be served by going beyond this tough statement yesterday.

Asked about reports that he went against the advice of Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Undersecretary Chester Bowles and decided to train Cuban refugees with U.S. arms and give them ships and fuel, Kennedy said:

"I think the facts of the matter involving Cuba will come out in due time.

Determine Facts

"I am sure that an effort will be made to determine the facts accurately."

Kennedy said his silence was not an effort to duck any responsibility.

"I do not believe that such a discussion would benefit us during the present difficult situation," he said.

"There is an old saying that victory has 100 fathers and defeat is an orphan," he added. "I wouldn't be surprised if information is poured into you in regard to all of the recent activities."

The president said his 75-minute discussion Thursday with former vice-president Richard Nixon on Cuba, Laos and other world problems was "wholly non-political."

Kennedy said the free world would have to devote all its energy and all its attention for the rest of the 1960s to Communist conquest of nations through subversion.

Honduras Cuts Ties

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (UPI) — President Ramon Villeda Morales of Honduras announced yesterday this government has decided to break diplomatic relations with the government of Fidel Castro.

Halt Executions in Cuba Rebel Begs Pope, UN

NEW YORK (UPI) — Dr. Jose Miro Cardona, head of the Cuban revolutionary council, called on Pope John and the UN last night to try to halt the executions of persons opposed to Fidel Castro in Cuba.

Miro Cardona, whose son was captured in the rebels' aborted invasion, sent similar pleas to 11 presidents of Latin American nations.

He urged hemisphere-wide "material and moral support" against "the Moscof-Havana-Peiking axis" but spurned any suggestion of military aid fr om the U.S.

Amateur Spies Getting Tiresome

LONDON (AP) — A monthly diplomatic journal claims that would-be spies are rushing to gatecrash the tight world of international espionage and offering worthless secrets to Communist embassies.

The result, according to The Diplomatist, has been embarrassment for diplomats and trade experts of Iron Curtain counfries in Britain. In an editorial on "spy fever and the corps diplomatique" the journal gives this picture:

"It is not often that one hears of Iron Curtain diplomats refusing to listen to secret information.

* * *

"Yet, right during the height of the spy fever last month, members of several Iron Curtain diplomatic missions in London let it be known that they were beginning to get a bit tired of the avalanche of approaches they were receiving from persons previously unknown who offered them a great variety of secret information."

The Diplomatist says recent spy trials have led a lot of people to realize their work or knowledge could interest foreign powers and there might be money in peddling information. These would-be informants find no great difficulty in persuading themselves that the material they have to offer would not harm their own country.

* * *

"If they can make some easy cash they see no reason for not trying to contact some foreign mission and strike a bargain with them. These would-be informants argue in most cases that if the Communists are silly enough to pay for worthless material, why should they not take advantage of it."

Royal Salute

Dramatic skyline of storm clouds highlights this picture of the 21-gun salute fired yesterday by gunners of 5th B.C. Defeat for Soviet Union

Latin America Wins UN Role As U.S.-Cuba Peacemaker

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—Latin America Friday won the main role as peace-maker between the U.S. and Cuba as the 15th UN General Assembly neared the end of its marathon sessions.

The 99-member political committee overrode objections by Russia and Cuba and approved a South American proposal that the Latin American countries handle the chief task of negotiation of events arising from the Cuban invasion.

STERN REBUKE

While this represented a stern rebuke for the Soviet-Cuban stand, the committee also criticized the U.S.—at least by implication—when it approved another resolution, submitted by Mexico, hitting at countries that assisted the invasion.

Russia and Romania withdrew two other resolutions when it became apparent the Russian demand that the U.S. be condemned as an aggressor didn't stand a hope of getting a majority.

ACTION TODAY

The committee voted 61 to 27 with 10 abstentions for the seven-country Latin American draft which then was sent to the General Assembly for action today.

Canada, Britain and the United States supported the proposal.

Then it approved 42 to 31 with 25 abstentions the Mexican resolution.

It "makes an urgent appeal to all states to ensure that their territories and resources are not used to promote a civil war in Cuba." Canada opposed this resolution whose victory margin was insufficient for passage where a two-thirds majority is required.

COOKED-UP

Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa denounced as a cooked-up job the seven-country resolution.

Roa said the OAS is dominated by the U.S. and added:

"This draft resolution was prepared to the open detriment of Cuba. It is one of the many ambushes of the United States against the whole process of the Cuban revolution."

NO DOUBT

Many delegates — especially from Afro-Asian countries—said there was no doubt the Cuban invaders had material U.S. support.

Pravda Building Shell Collapses

MOSCOW (AP) — The steel framework for a new nine-storey building for the newspaper Pravda collapsed late Wednesday and many workmen were reported injured.

There were no reports that anyone was killed.

Uprising Admitted

MIAMI (UPI)—A Cuban government radio station said Friday three more anti-Castro Cubans were executed by a firing squad in Pinar del Rio province.

The radio said the three men were convicted of "complicity in the uprising in combination with the foreign invasion," first indication by the government that an uprising was part of the invasion.

Kennedy:

Second on Moon 'Billions or Not'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy said Friday that, no matter how much is spent on the best U.S. rocket now being developed, "we are still going to be second" to Russia in the race to explore the moon.

The president gave a pessimistic appraisal of the U.S. Saturn rocket which he said "does not offer any hope of being first to the moon."

BETTER HOPE

He told his news conference the administration was considering whether a program to develop nuclear or chemical rockets "offers us a better hope of making a jump forward."

Kennedy said he did not want to start spending billions of dollars without a careful scientific judgment "whether a real success can be achieved or whether we are so far behind now in this particular race we are going to be second in this decade."

ORBIT MOON

The first Saturn, which will develop 1,500,000 pounds of thrust, is expected to become operational in 1964. A more powerful type of Saturn which would enable a manned space craft to orbit the moon is slated for 1966.

Castro Men Give Credit To Czech Gun

HAVANA (UPI)—Premier Fidel Castro's army officers yesterday credited a multiple-barreled Czech machinegun with holding back the invaders who landed in Las Villas province Monday until reinforcements could be rushed from Havana to meet the attack.

Castro officers said most of the invaders were members of wealthy families who lost all their holdings under revolutionary law. One man writing down prisoners' names said it was like reading the membership roll of the Havana Yacht Club.

Integration Urged

CALGARY (CP)—Selective integration of Piegan Indian school children into Alberta schools was recommended Thursday at the Calgary district Anglican synod.

'I Wish I'd Never Found $240,000'

LOS ANGELES (AP) — An unemployed handyman, bitter and discouraged, said Friday that finding a $240,000 fortune in the street was the biggest misfortune of his life.

Douglas Johnson, who made headlines two months ago when he returned the money to the Brinks armored car company that had lost it, said:

"I wish I'd never seen any of it. I wish we'd let that money sit in the street and rot. I wish we'd thrown it down a sewer or burned it."

Johnson said that he and his wife and three sons have been under constant harassment. Crackpots write obscene letters, neighbors ridicule him, schoolmates taunt his sons.

The critics' theme—Johnson was crazy not to have kept the bag of money that had fallen off an armored truck.

Johnson and his wife are Negroes.

Johnson, who does maintenance jobs when he can find work, said "the Brinks people gave me a $10,000 reward for giving the money back. I thought that was nice of them."

Then he added bitterly:

"I can't leave the house to get work without someone throws it all up to me and calls me a fool. Can't be on a job without someone says, 'Why you need to work? You had $240,000.' And now it's hurting my boys.

"That money? It's not worth anything. It has made me a poor man."

Finding $240,000, then returning it, has shattered his life, says unemployed Douglas Johnson of Los Angeles. As his wife sobs, Johnson reads letter from a son who said he was running away from home because school mates called him stupid.—(AP Photofax)

Collision Aftermath

Collision between a milk truck and a car sent gallons of milk cascading over Oak Bay Avenue at Chamberlain early yesterday.

No one was injured.

Police said the truck, driven by George Baggett, 1904 Davie, was parked on the north curb of Oak Bay on the wrong side, opposite Chamberlain.

When it moved into the street it collided with the front of a car driven by Geoffrey Robbins, 2533 Margate.

Quebec Law Wins In Vermont Court

MONTPELIER, Vt. (UPI)—The Vermont supreme court Friday reversed a judgment of a county court because it failed to uphold the laws of the province of Quebec.

Paul Beaudry of Newport, Vt., obtained a judgment last year when he denied the application of the laws of Quebec in regard to a complaint filed by Vera Goldman, Allston, Mass.

She appealed to the supreme court charging the trial court had refused to apply the Quebec law in considering a charge of contributory negligence in a car accident in Massawippi, Que., Feb. 22, 1959.

Quebec law involved says that, if both plaintiff and defendant are guilty of neglect contributing to an accident, there will be a division of damages.

Dodger Hopes Keep Soaring With Another Shot for Moon

Los Angeles Dodgers got still another of their "moon shots" last night but it didn't take them away from the rest of the National League, where only one game separates the first seven teams.

Outfielder Wally Moon, a good-average hitter ever since reaching the major leagues in 1954, kept the baseball world slightly agog as he sliced his seventh home run in 10 games over the inviting—only 252 feet away—left-field screen in Los Angeles Coliseum.

No one has mentioned—yet—how many games this puts him ahead of Babe Ruth's pace the year Ruth set the home-run record of 60, but it took Moon 53 games last season to get seven home runs, and he had only 13 for the full season.

Moon, who led off the second inning with his home run, also had a single to finish the game with a .543 batting average.

John Roseboro hit a two-run homer in the second and the Dodgers added two more runs in the third on their way to a 5-3 win over Cincinnati Reds, who now share a four-way tie for the lead with the champion Pittsburgh Pirates, San Francisco Giants and St. Louis Cardinals.

The Dodgers, in a game tie, are 11 percentage points behind in fifth place, a half game ahead of the Cubs and a game ahead of the Milwaukee Braves.

The Cubs moved up with a 3-2 decision over the trailing Philadelphia Phillies in the only other National League game which escaped being weathered out.

Mickey Mantle again stole the American League headlines. The New York thumper hit his fourth home run in the last three games to lead the Yankees to their fifth straight win, a 4-2 conquest of the Baltimore Orioles.

Mantle's clout came with a man on base in the three-run third inning which gave veteran Whitey Ford all the runs he needed for his second straight route-going win.

Victory gave the Yanks a first-place tie with the surprising Detroit Tigers, who also moved up with their fifth win in a row.

Getting fine pitching from Don Mossi and some more timely hitting, the Tigers routed Los Angeles Dodgers, 9-1. Mossi struck out nine and only a home run by Steve Bilko kept him from a shutout. Rocky Colavito got the Tigers started with a three-run, first-inning homer.

OLD SENATORS LOSE

Dropped out of the lead were the new Minnesota Twins, upset by their successors at Washington, 5-3.

Opening their home season before 24,606 fans, the Twins lost when the Senators scored two runs on a walk, two singles and a sacrifice bunt by rookie Joe McClain, who won his second game with ninth-inning help from Dave Sisler.

There was good news for Chicago White Sox fans as veteran Cal McLish scattered nine hits so effectively that he lasted the distance and beat Boston Red Sox, 3-2.

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

AROUND THE CLOCK: The Western Hockey League rumor factory continues to operate on an overtime basis on the eve of the meeting which should just about shut it down, and a couple of telephone calls yesterday resulted in the unearthing of some more interesting conjecture.

Most important development was the discovery of another knowledgeable source who believes that it is yet far from certain that San Francisco and Los Angeles will join the WHL next season.

There are, it seems, some considerable differences of opinion, and one hears that the management of the Los Angeles arena walked out of last week's league meeting and threatened not to consider a WHL team if the San Francisco franchise should go to the Winnipeg-Spokane combine.

Credence is lent to this rumor by the fact that Coley Hall suddenly and unexpectedly showed up as a bidder for the San Francisco franchise. The word is that if the California cities are taken in, Hall will get San Francisco and, ironically, one of the fellows who'll likely give him his vote will be his one-time mortal enemy, none other than Victoria-owner Jim Piggott. Hall's surprise assertion that he believes Piggott will get Los Angeles seems to make that surmise stand up.

As matters stand now, San Francisco for Hall and Los Angeles for Piggott would seem to be the winning parlay, but there is still a lot of race to be run. Successful bidders need a minimum 6-2 vote and presuming that the Winnipeg and Spokane clubs oppose this division of the expected California spoils, they could block it if they can get one other club to support them.

That, our latest informant says, is quite possible. The increased travel costs that entry of the California cities would bring and the continual demand of major league hockey or none by Los Angeles, in particular, newspapermen have created doubts in some minds that expansion would prove as profitable as others believe.

Some clubs believe that there should be a 70-30 gate split plus a travel pool which would take care of all travel expense. And they also want the assurance that there will be no jumping to the National Hockey League if that august body should decide that a threat is in the making and move to end it by offering franchises to the California cities after a season or two.

I still feel that the WHL will make the move south but it is easy to see that there are problems which might never be settled.

* * *

JUST A SUGGESTION: Hockey for Victoria next season is quite possible if the WHL rules out California, barely possible if the league expands.

Indications are that Piggott, who plans to retire in California and wants a pleasant business to keep him occupied, will sell out his hockey interests if he fails to get to Los Angeles. This doesn't necessarily mean that Victoria is out, for one hears that a group is ready to deal with him for his WHL franchise and his minor hockey setup in Saskatoon and to continue to operate here.

If the league goes to California and Piggott goes to Los Angeles, the WHL may want an eighth team and get behind a move to keep hockey here. Best thought of the moment for hockey fans—plan to take up steelheading or curling next winter. And turn to these pages tomorrow—we could have facts.

* * *

A RARITY NO MORE: Time was when a hole-in-one was quite a newsworthy item but with golf's growing popularity, it is no longer any rarity. In fact, it is quite a common occurrence.

The Bois Canadian Hole-In-One Club, formed 20 years ago, had no less than 4,664 members at the end of last year. That averages out to about 233 members each year but the trend is upward. In 1959, the sponsor gave out 507 plaques to Canadian golfers who aced their tee shots either on a Canadian or foreign course and last year it added no less than 630 new members.

Of the 630 plaques sent out in 1960, there are 18 on Vancouver Island walls. Winners included Bill Wakeham, K. A. Burnett, C. H. Chapman, Margaret Cooke, W. A. Craven, R. O. Gunning, John J. Moran, J. F. Parker, L. A. Rees, Mrs. George Rice, C. E. Wesson, Mrs. S. R. Weston and Vince Wheatley of Victoria; Mrs. J. Albrecht and C. W. Laver of Comox and Marty Boylan, C. A. Higginson and Leo Zarahoff of Port Alberni.

* * *

THERE ARE TIMES: Throwing a live guinea pig on the ice during a hockey game isn't funny but there are times when sports fans can be humorous, and the current issue of The Sporting News carries an old story worth repeating.

On the fence in Shibe Park, where the ever-trailing Philadelphia Phillies used to play their baseball, was a sign which proudly stated "The Phillies use Lifebuoy."

One day when the Phillies showed up for their pre-game warmup, they found something had been added.

In bold letters, someone had painted "—and they still stink."

B.C. Olympic Hopes Gone? Report Banff Recommended

VANCOUVER (CP) — A Vancouver newspaper says Foundation Engineering Company has recommended Banff, Alta., as the proposed site of the 1968 Winter Olympics.

The newspaper says the company will recommend Banff over four proposed British Columbia sites at the meeting of the Canadian Olympic Association at Toronto today (Saturday).

The meeting will decide which Canadian site it will submit to the international body, which in turn will make its decision from submissions from various countries.

Garibaldi Park, near Vancouver, Manning Park, 150 miles east of here, and Fernie and Rossland in the interior have been mentioned as possible sites in B.C.

Foundation was hired by the Olympic Association to study all proposed sites.

Commenting on the report, Jack Shakespeare, spokesman for the Garibaldi Olympic Development Association, said the Olympic Association will take other things into consideration as well as the engineering report before reaching a decision.

Marcel on Second Team

All-Star Line from Calgary

First-string forward line of the Calgary Stampeders, two defencemen from the Vancouver Canucks and the rookie goalkeeper of the Portland Buckaroos make up the Western Hockey League all-star team for the 1960-61 season.

Announcement of the results from the annual poll of league sportswriters and sportscasters was made last night in Vancouver by league-president Al Leader.

TWO UNANIMOUS

Leftwinger Lou Jankowski, who set a new league record with 57 goals, and rightwinger Ron Leopold, close behind with 51 scoring shots, were unanimous choices. Linemate Norm Johnson won the centre position in the closest vote of all, getting 84 points to 73 for Seattle's Guyle Fielder.

Larry Cahan, getting 106 out of the possible 120 points, and teammate Ralph Keller, with 84 points, were far ahead in the voting for the two defence positions. Don Head received 113 points for the third highest total.

Marcel Pelletier was the only Victoria player to win enough support to rate as high as third in the balloting. The veteran goalkeeper still well regarded around the league, placed second to Head.

Joining Fielder and Pelletier on the second team were three Portland veterans and Fred Hucul, Calgary's solid veteran on defence. Ron Matthews was Hucul's defence partner and Fielder received as his wingmen Gordie Fashoway and scrappy little Arnie Schmautz.

Players chosen to the first team receive a trophy and $100 in cash while the runners-up receive a $50 cash award and a good argument when contract-signing time comes up again.

Perhaps the biggest surprise in the voting was that Art Jones, league scoring champion finished third in the voting for the centre position.

Also third in the voting were Calgary goalkeeper Lucien Dechene, Spokane defenceman Sandy Hucul, Vancouver defenceman Brent Mcnab, Seattle leftwinger Bill MacFarland and Calgary rightwinger Wally Hergesheimer.

Royals Drop From EPHL

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal Royals folded Thursday as a professional club, withdrawing from the Eastern Professional Hockey League.

The club's franchise will be returned to the league, set up two years ago. The parent Montreal Canadiens organization, however, will continue participation in the EPHL through its farm club at Hull-Ottawa.

Galt Trips Monarchs In Allen Cup Series

GALT, Ont.—Butch Martin scored at 4.38 of the second overtime period here last night to give Galt Terriers an uphill 4-3 victory over Winnipeg Monarchs and put them ahead, 2-0, in the best-of-seven Allen Cup hockey final.

Martin's goal stretched Terriers' unbeaten playoff streak to 13. They have now won 16 games in a row and 30 of their last 35 in a period dating back to Dec. 28, 1960.

But the eastern champs had a fight on their hands last night. Winnipeg built up a 2-0 lead in the first nine minutes, and came back to tie the score at 3-3 and force the overtime after Terriers had surged back to take the lead. However, Monarchs weakened noticeably as the overtime progressed.

Third game of the series will be played in Kitchener Sunday and the fourth here Monday.

STAR INJURED

Terriers lost left winger Bob Mader, the club's top playoff scorer, in the first period when he left the game suffering from dizzy spells. Mader was felled by Bill Juzda in the opening game and needed five stitches to close a cut on the back of his head.

Martin's goal, his second of the game, came after Terriers had pressed around the Monarch net for more than a minute. He took a relay from Bill Wylie and Bob McKnight and fired the puck past sprawling goalie Don Collins.

Masters Winner Fires 69, Caddy

HOUSTON, Tex. — Masters champion Gary Player dismissed his caddy after nine holes yesterday in the second round of the $40,000 Houston golf tournament, but refused to let anyone know why.

"If you don't mind, that is between me and the caddy," the South African star said. "These are things in my private life, and I don't discuss my private life with anybody."

Then he went on to shoot a one-under-par 69 for a 36-hole total of 141, five strokes off the pace set by Peter Thomson.

Thomson, mastering the back nine in a high wind, retained his one-stroke lead with a one-over-par 71 for a 136 total. Arnold Palmer's 68 was best score of the day. Palmer missed an 18-foot putt on the final green that would have left him tied with Thomson.

Palmer was tied with Jerry Barber, Johnny Pott and Lionel Hebert at 137. Next came Tommy Bolt, who shot his second straight 69 for 138.

Islanders Worried Despite 6,041 Fans

Professional baseball has made its debut in Hawaii, and although the Islanders won their opening game the debut was a disappointing one.

Only 6,041 fans were on hand Thursday night to see the Islanders beat out Vancouver Mounties, 4-3, in the Pacific Coast Baseball League opener. Promoters of the Hawaii venture said before the season started that a crowd of 7,000 at an absolute minimum would be needed if the baseball club was to operate successfully.

VIEWS of SPORT

By Red Smith

When Paul Pender defends his fraction of the middleweight championship against Carmen Basilio in Boston tonight, he will fight without the physical ministrations or moral support of Johnny Buckley, the wily old schemer who wangled title recognition for him in New York, Massachusetts, and the dominions across the sea.

"Oh, I'll be there," Buckley said yesterday, "hoping he gets slaughtered, but I'm afraid Basilio ain't got enough left."

After 11 years, the partial champion of this sundered world has dumped the manager who salvaged him from an obscure existence fighting fires in Brookline for a living and strangers in saloons for fun. When and if Pender listens to advice now, it comes from John Cronin, a Boston lawyer.

"If they'd have done it before he won the title I wouldn't have minded so much," said the 72-year-old who charted Jack Sharkey's meandering course to the heavyweight championship three decades ago. "But they shook me off just when the money got good."

RUN-AROUND

Buckley said his contract with Pender expired a year ago last August. That month the fighter, whose brittle hands had limited him to 13 bouts over seven years, won something called the New England middleweight championship with a ten-round decision over Jackson Brown in Providence.

"When I mentioned the contract to him," Johnny said, "he said we'd talk about it later. Then he'd say to me, 'You handled Sharkey all them years without a contract. Why can't we go along without a contract?' I thought as long as he talked that way everything was all right.

"I made five trips down to New York to see Ray Robinson and convince him this guy was just a mediocre fighter and talk him into giving us the title shot. By the time the first Robinson fight, Pender owed me $2,130 which I'd been paying him $100 a week to live and Sam Silverman, the promoter, owed me $1,610, and the trainer was into me $640.

"That's over $4,000 and I ain't overburdened with money; I just got a little is all.

"Well, he give that statement to the newspapers about racketeers in boxing and how it's infested with thieves and all's he says it for is publicity but he gets called before the commission. A commissioner told me all's he's got to do is to say all's he knows is what he reads in the papers, but now this Cronin volunteered to represent him for free before the commission.

"At the hearing I told the lawyer, 'I don't know you. I never met you before, but I don't know how lawyers can work free. You can't run your office free, you can't run your home free.' Anyhow, it was after the second Robinson fight the lawyer put in a bill for $5,000 legal services.

"I say nothing about that. I certainly don't say anybody should work for free. But I told Cronin in front of Pender, 'One-third of that $5,000 belongs to me, and I don't need no lawyer.' I asked him in front of Pender, 'Who okayed that ball? And he said, 'Pender.' I said, 'Well, he can okay his end, but he shouldn't okay my $1,600,' because I was still entitled to the manager's end. He wanted to give me back $500, but I wouldn't take it.

"Then I arranged a free trip to Europe from Harry Levene in London for Pender to see Terry Downes fight and he couldn't go without the lawyer. Because I got Pender this free trip is how we made the match with Downes over here a few months ago.

TO 10% TO NOTHING

"Now they cut me from 33⅓ per cent to 10 per cent. That's what I got out of the Downes match. I told Pender, 'Ten per cent is still all right because now it's amounting to something and at my age in life I'm satisfied with just some potato money.'

"That's the last match I had anything to do with. When they can get $100,000 I guess they figure who needs the old boy any more? They never had no rap on me.

"One of the commissioners told me Pender says he's got no fault to find, I never done nothin' to him. As far as money, plenty of times I didn't take a nickel. I'm not hollering about anybody but I hope he gets slaughtered."

STIRLING MOSS

Skillful But Outlucked Moss May Find New Rules Big Help

By PAUL WESTBROOK

LONDON (CP)—Bad luck is the only opponent that consistently outwits Stirling Moss on the world's motor-racing circuits.

One of the most consistently successful present-day drivers, Moss has yet to win the top prize, the World Drivers' Championship.

In his 10-year career, he has been runner-up for the title four times. Every year, some freak of fate stops him from winning the trophy.

When he first entered big-time racing in 1950, he crashed while leading the field in the Naples Grand Prix. Critics put it down to the impetuosity of an inexperienced driver.

In the following years, when mechanical faults let Moss down, they said he was driving his cars too hard. But they all agree that his worst fault is an apparently incurable streak of bad luck.

HOPES CRASHED

Last summer his hopes of winning the championship crashed with his Cooper in a practice session for the Belgian Grand Prix. While Moss spent seven weeks recovering from his injuries, Australia's Jack Brabham walked away with the title.

This season, which begins with the Monaco Grand Prix May 14, his task won't be any easier. Up against him will be the much-improved Brabham, champion for the last two years, together with Sweden's Jo Bonnier and Bruce McLaren of New Zealand.

He also has to face such newcomers as John Surtees, former world motorcycle racing champion, and Innes Ireland.

So far, Moss hasn't signed for any racing team but he is considered certain to stay with Rob Walker, a millionaire manufacturer who runs a squad of Coopers.

During the winter he turned down offers from the powerful Porsche combine of Germany and Britain's rear-engined Lotus team.

BRITAIN NEEDS HELP

Britain's embattled manufacturers are counting heavily on Moss to help them meet a formidable Continental challenge.

The newly-revised Grand Prix rules place a higher premium on driving skill. Cars now are limited to smaller engines running on ordinary commercial gasoline and have a minimum weight of 450 kilograms.

While Italian and German manufacturers got on with developing engines within the new rules, British firms wasted valuable time trying to get them amended.

Coventry Climax, a small firm, and British Racing Motors are the only British companies producing an engine to the new specifications. Several British stables may have to buy power units on the Continent.

Mrs. Lovitt Wins Empress Tourney

Mrs. G. H. Lovitt, a Victoria golfer who has "never won anything worth mentioning," yesterday captured the ladies' Empress Golf Tournament title and the Sir Edward Beatty Trophy by beating Mrs. R. M. Young of Tacoma at the 19th hole in their final at Uplands Golf Club.

STROKES HELPED

The Uplands golfer, who plays to a 19 handicap, had an eight-stroke advantage yesterday, and one of them ended the match on the 19th, when both were down in six. Mrs. Young, former Washington state champion, had rallied to win the 18th and square the match.

"We were close all the way," Mrs. Lovitt said last night. "I don't think there was more than a one-hole lead at any time in the match."

While the ladies were battling it out in the final, the men's event was being narrowed down to two finalists, at Victoria Golf Club.

J. D. Matthews of Calgary and Pross Clark of Portland tee off in the 18-hole final today at 9.30, after posting 3 and 2 victories yesterday. Matthews beat E. A. Trethewey of Vancouver and Clark won out over R. H. Kelly of Calgary.

Closest, and oddest, match of the day came in the fifth flight semis, where Don Anderson of Calgary and L. J. Donnelly of Portland got into a real see-saw battle before Donnelly won on the 19th.

Anderson won the first hole, Donnelly the second, and from there they alternated victories, each winning nine holes. Neither could win two in a row until Donnelly took the 18th to square the match and the 19th to win it.

At Uplands, Mrs. G. Green won low gross score in the Evergreen competition with a 94, two strokes better than Mrs. W. A. Allen. Low net winner was Mrs. T. A. Burns, who shot a 79 for a one-stroke edge over Mrs. G. H. Waterman.

Team event was won by the Uplands foursome of Mrs. T. L. Christie, Mrs. B. Price, Mrs. W. A. Allen and Mrs. Lovitt with a 328 net score.

In the Empress competition Mrs. Young, the medallist with a net 78, also took low gross with 86 and low net with 78.

Boosts Derby Stock

Prep to Four-And-Twenty

Alberta Ranches' Four-and-Twenty, top-weighted at 122 pounds, raced to victory yesterday in Keeneland's Forerunner Purse, a race for a small pot ($7,500 but one which has produced more than its share of Kentucky Derby winners.

Four-and-Twenty, with Henry Moreno replacing the ailing Johnny Longden in the irons, led all the way to win the seven-furlong pre-derby test in 1.23, good time for a sloppy track.

Thumbs to the Elbow

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

There was a time not so many years ago when a home gardener's thumbs had to be bright green clear up to the elbow before he would dare try his hand at growing any of the fancier kinds of lilies. We had our common tiger lilies, of course, and the tough old Regal lily, but anything more glamorous than those were strictly for the experts.

Many of them were extremely demanding as to the soil conditions. Others wouldn't tolerate the sodden conditions of a Victoria winter. Practically all of the lily aristocrats we would like to grow would come down at the drop of a hat, with a devastating disease called botrytis elliptica and simply pass out of the picture.

This year, unless I miss my guess, there will be more lily bulbs planted than ever before in the history of Vancouver Island, for it is possible now to grow some most exotic kinds as easily as gladiolus or dahlias.

* * *

Moreover, these new lilies can be planted with every assurance that they'll answer to roll call next year and the year after, bigger and better than ever.

This has come about as a result of some inspired plant breeding in which some of the glorious species lilies — too disease-ridden in our climate — were crossed with the durable Lilium Henryi, an orange-yellow spotted lily from the cold and wind-swept plains of North China. The offspring from this mixed marriage were mostly duds, as is usually the case, but from the few good ones came a whole race of fantastically beautiful flowers—the Aurelian hybrids.

A further improvement came by crossing Aurelians back with their daddy, Lilium Henryi, thereby injecting a double dose of the tough Manchurian blood into the race. While none of the new lilies are completely immune to botrytis, they show marked resistance to the disease and thrive under ordinary backyard conditions.

* * *

One of the toughest of the lot, for my money, is Bright Cloud, which has taken to B.C. conditions like a duck takes to water. Developed by Mr. Carleton Yerex of Oregon, Bright Cloud makes a plant about five feet tall bearing clusters of six-inch blooms, white with yellow hearts, that look like dancing fairy lanterns. Single bulbs sell ordinarily for around $3 each but you can usually get a better price if you buy several. Bright Cloud comes into bloom around the middle of August.

Golden Clarion is another grand lily, standing four feet tall and bearing huge gold and yellow trumpet flowers. Blooming in late July, the bulbs are a real buy at $1 each.

You haven't lived until you have seen the lily Pink Perfection blooming in your own garden. This one likes a bit of shade in the afternoon, with cool and moist but well-drained soil, and grows like a weed when these simple needs are met. The trumpet flowers, pink to fuchsia in coloring, are produced prolifically. I have counted as many as 15 blooms on a single two-year-old plant, grown from a $2.50 bulb.

* * *

Nearest thing to an Easter lily among the new kinds is Sentinel, bearing chaste, pure white trumpets of enormous size on 2½-foot stems in early July. Sentinel works overtime at producing flowers and it is quite a common thing to find a dozen flowers on a single stem. Bulbs run around $2.75 each.

Ever grow a green lily? Last spring we planted a clump of three bulbs called Emerald and I don't think anything ever attracted as much attention in our garden. As cool as the tinkle of ice in a glass, the flowers are a crystal-like emerald green and sweetly fragrant to boot. The plant makes a height of a little better than three feet and the bulbs sell for $2 each.

These prices may seem a bit high, but against the first cost, they deliver a lot of mileage. Planted in a spot to their taste, each bulb multiplies into a clump of four to eight stems, providing an outstanding and permanent showpiece in the garden as well as a wealth of cut flowers for the house.

John Crosby — Critic at Large

More Confusing Every Year

Elizabeth Taylor finally won an Academy Award for having had a tracheotomy after losing one for marrying Eddie Fisher. As we all know, the Academy Awards are given for complicated reasons and they're getting more confusing every year. (The one thing that is fortunately not at issue is acting. The winners get their awards in spite of their acting.)

This year the motivations were more complex than ever. Well, not the motives behind Miss Taylor's award. She'd had a bad illness and a good press. Then the tracheotomy. How can you beat it? She may be the first movie star who ever had a tracheotomy. Next year, of course, they'll all have them.

* * *

This brings us to the people who didn't win. The reasons for not winning are not so complicated as those for winning but they are by no means simple. I mean plain ordinary lousy acting won't get you off the hook. Some perfectly frightful acting has been rewarded with Oscars.

As the motion picture industry shrinks, the Academy Award ceremony gets longer, or seems to. This one seemed twice as long as "Ben Hur." Production has been at an all-time high," said Bob Hope, who as usual was very funny. "Movies are better than ever, so what are we doing in Santa Monica with six sponsors?"

* * *

Only six? It seemed like a hundred. Next year they'll be giving special awards for appearing in the commercials. They gave special awards for practically everything else this year including one to the ex-producer of Tarzan movies. Steve Allen and Jayne Meadows tried to give away another Oscar and nobody came to claim it. It's been quite a year for this.

I used to be a scholar of award-accepting speeches, but I got tired of it. Now, I study envelope-opening. There was some splendid envelope-opening. Tony Randall opened his envelope with devil-may-care assurance. (He's received letters before, that one.) Bobby Darrin and Sandra Dee opened their envelope with doomsday solemnity, as if it were his draft notice. (For sheer emotion Carol Channing at the Tony Awards, the night before, was a much better envelope-opener than anyone in Hollywood. My God, the way that girl handles an envelope!)

* * *

Well, I could go on and on like the ceremonies themselves. But I won't. I do feel strongly that Hollywood surpassed itself last year. It produced the worst movies I have ever seen and believe me they've produced some stinkers before.

There were only two American movies all year worth attending, much less giving an award to, "The Apartment" (which won it) and "Elmer Gantry." Bad as the movies were, the music in them was worse. I forgot to say they insisted on playing all those awful tunes for what seemed like hours. Maybe that's what made the whole thing so endless.

Africans Hopeful — Opportunity Ripe

Canada's Their Champion

By SYDNEY WILLIAMS

(Ninth of a Series)

The rising tide of Afro-Asian anger is speeding the showdown in South Africa.

Until now the contributions of the Afro-Asian countries has been almost wholly composed of shelter for refugees from South Africa, moral pressures which are expressed in resolutions and speeches at the UN and political advice through such organizations as the African National Congress.

* * *

Rising Tide of Anger Speeding Showdown

But what is the obvious course if these fail?

It will be the development of a more united underground. It will be the provision of arms to the more violent freedom-seekers of South Africa. It will be death and destruction.

Far more serious to our world will be the fanning of the fanatical flames.

To black Africa it is inconceivable that the powerful Western world cannot influence 2,500,000 white oppressors to abandon a policy that appears to be unjust, indecent, inhuman and contrary to all moral law.

Yet, if South Africa does not change its policies, this will be the logical assumption.

I found no basic hatred of the white race; only of the white population that enforces apartheid.

Black Africa fully realizes that there is a place for the white man in its world. Ghana has double the white population today as a free state that it had when it was the colony of the Gold Coast.

* * *

Yet the emotional and race-dividing cry "Africa for Africans" will feed on the continued oppression and frustration of South Africa.

It will lend unthinking support to such demands as the expulsion of South Africa from the United Nations, a course I vigorously opposed in talking to black leaders.

Never was the moment more propitious for the West to win Africa. Never was Western understanding and guidance more needed. Yet Africa sees what it considers a policy of appeasement when the United Kingdom abstains from the UN vote that castigated South African policy in Southwest Africa, the former German colony administered by South Africa under League of Nations trusteeship.

* * *

Against this stands what Africans regard as their champion, Canada.

When South Africa announced its decision to withdraw from the British Commonwealth, Canada's prestige zoomed. It was believed that Prime Minister Diefenbaker had led in the expression of opinion among the Commonwealth members that forced the issue.

It is regrettable that United States friendship is suspected as being based in the hope of commercial gain. But this is a fact.

In Canada's case no such suspicion was held.

Canada, therefore, can play a momentous role in the next few months or years. It can be the champion of Africa and that vast continent's aspirations.

* * *

And if a Western nation fails to play that role, acting as the interpreter of Africa to the West, and does not do it sincerely and honestly, there is only one alternative for Africa.

That alternative is communism.

She Eats All She Wants —Doesn't Gain an Ounce

By SHEILAH GRAHAM

HOLLYWOOD (NANA) — Barbara Rush, thinnest girl at the Oscar presentations, has a new diet, she told me. She can eat all she wants, and doesn't gain an ounce! . . . Please don't write me for details—I'm not allowed to pass them along. But Barbara's address is "Beverly Hills, Calif."

* * *

Some late, late Oscar recollections: Wouldn't you say that Tony Curtis needed a haircut? . . . and that Sandra Dee has gained weight and wore the wrong kind of dress to conceal it? And whatever happened to Sandra's before-marriage bounce and bubble?

* * *

Thinking of Billy Wilder's three Oscars Monday night, I remembered the night his winning movie, "The Apartment," was previewed. In the confusion of congratulations afterward, Billy couldn't find his wife . . . "Fine thing," he said. "I've got a hit on my hands and I've lost my wife. How lucky can a man be?"

* * *

I plumped into Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hitchcock a couple of hours after the big show and asked Hich if he was disappointed that he had not won the award for "best director." "No, I'm always the bridesmaid but never the bride," he smiled—and Hitch can afford to make jokes. "Psycho" is his biggest money-maker to date.

* * *

Hitch had some news for me: His next movie is "Marine"—an English suspense thriller. "Will Vera Miles star in it?" I asked. "I don't think so," said her boss, who believes that Miss Miles broke her starring rhythm when she could not star in 'Vertigo,' because of pregnancy. She preferred to go up a tree with Tarzan." (Her then mate, Gordon Scott). Obviously, Vera decided that marriage and being a mother was more important than being a star. Later they were divorced. Now Vera is married again and again is "expecting."

Contests Very Close For Bowl, Medallion

By BERT BINNY

Soprano Sally Seymour and pianist Karen Dickson captured the B.C. Electric Rose Bowl and the City of Victoria Medallion at the Greater Victoria Music Festival last night.

But both were provided with as stiff competition as has been heard in some time.

This year there were four finalists for the Rose Bowl and Miss Seymour had to be at an electrifying best to overcome the competition from Margaret Thomson, Marilyn Tate and Ian Willox.

NO EASY TASK

Similarly, Miss Dickson had no easy task to win the medallion with Carol James and Philip Adamson close behind.

Preceding these main contests at Central Junior High School there was a concert of outstanding performers selected from all the classes completed since Monday. Festival continues next week.

On the program were pianists Dickson and David Foster; vocalists Richard Wood and Laura Groos; the vocal ensembles of St. Paul's Choir, the Vera Barclay Studio and First United Church Ladies' Choir, and the Oak Bay Senior High Quartet.

RECORDER GROUP

Completing the program was the van der Goes family who form a most intriguing quintet on recorders.

Even without the Rose Bowl competition it was a great day for singing. Seventy soloists, three duets, a trio and a quartet were on the program during the morning and afternoon.

Decided Thursday evening were male and female operatic solos, the concert group piano class and the family ensemble competition.

Dark-haired, petite Miss Seymour won the female operatic class and also the J. Ingram Smith prize for the best operatic solo, male or female. Best among the men was Mr. Willox, already winner of the male oratorio solo class.

Miss James scored 87 in the piano concert group class, topping Mr. Adamson by a single point for the Marian McGovern scholarship.

Six members of the van der Goes family, all playing recorders, won the family ensemble class with 88 points.

GOWARDS NEXT

Second was the Goward family—Florence (piano), Mary (violin) and Bernard (cello). The Ko family took third spot with 86.

Four further awards were on the block yesterday morning.

Consistent winners Laura and Madeleine Groos won the D. Gillespie and the Mrs. R. H. Pooley awards for the girl's solo, 9 to 11, and the folk song, 12 and under, respectively.

MUSIC AWARD

Judy Roberts won a Western Music award with 89 points in the folk song class, 13 to 16 years. Another Mrs. R. H. Pooley prize for the winner of the boy's sacred solo class went to Martin Chambers with 89.

A Registered Music Teachers' Association award for the winner in the Grade B vocal bracket was won by Richard Wood, who scored 89 points in the sacred solo and 90 in the folk song. Here is a moving performer who sings with great technical skill and profound feeling in the vein of Belafonte.

HIGH MARK

Adjudicator Timothy Turner awarded the high mark of 92 to the Oak Bay Senior High School quartet for one of their two numbers. Frances and Roberta Scott, Ken Smith and Bill Ritchie received 88 for their second number for a fine total of 180.

"The accordion," said adjudicator Joseph Fenger, "has a great future in Victoria."

Accordion classes ran yesterday afternoon and evening with about 60 entries—solos, duets and ensembles—in nine classes.

MARATHON EVENT

There were no fewer than 27 entries in the junior (10 years) solo division won by Ken McLeod, with 85 points. Second in this marathon event was Vicky Eastwood.

The diminutive duet of Vicky and Tina Zellensky the adjudicator found "very charming." Festival officials had to remove any odd effects such as music stands off the platform so that the duet could be seen as well as heard.

Overtime Bill for City Could Be $220 a Day

* * *

Workers Ready To Sue

* * *

By TERRY HAMMOND

Victoria taxpayers will be faced with a $220-a-day overtime bill from civic inside workers starting May 1 unless council accepts a conciliation award handed down last month.

City council last week rejected an award which granted 158 inside workers a half-hour shorter day for the five summer months commencing May 1.

NO ALTERNATIVE

Members of the Victoria City Hall Employees' Association have accepted the award and contend that the city has no alternative but to accept it, too.

The city, by terms of its contract with the association, would have been bound to accept the award had it been the work of a conciliation board.

SINGLE OFFICER

But the award came from a single conciliation officer acting under a section of the B.C. Labor Relations Act which, under certain conditions, makes an officer's award tantamount to a board's award.

A Vancouver spokesman for the civic inside workers, Max Pierotti, said commencing May 1 members of the association will file claims for one-half-hour overtime each working day they are required to stay on the job until 5 p.m.

GET CONSENT

"If they don't get it we will have to report to the department of labor and get consent to sue," Mr. Pierotti told the Colonist.

If the association still got no satisfaction it would take steps to conduct a strike vote, he added.

He agreed a written "no strike" pact exists between the city and its inside workers, but added, "then the city would have to sue us."

TRICK QUESTION

Mr. Pierotti termed the city's reasoning that it is not bound by a conciliation officer's award as "an exercise in legal jingoism—one of these trick lawyer's questions like 'have you stopped beating your wife?'"

Unofficial estimates have placed cost of the overtime measure at $220 a day, or some $22,000 during the summer months.

"The only people who stand to gain from this dispute are the members of the legal profession," the association spokesman stated.

CONFUSION

He said the confusion over the award stems from the city's belief that it is entitled to the services of a conciliation board.

Informed of the association's plan to claim overtime if the award is not accepted before May 1, Mayor Scurrah declined to comment.

Huge sign outside the home of Glen Hamilton, New Party candidate, was ordered removed by Saanich officials as violation of sign bylaw.

Displaying a blank cheque made out to Glen Hamilton is Reeve George Chatterton. Cheque is to pay any fine levied against Mr. Hamilton.

Chatterton-Hamilton

'Battle of the Sign' Sparks Esquimalt-Saanich Contest

"The Battle of the Sign" boiled up yesterday as the first real clash between candidates in the Esquimalt-Saanich federal by-election campaign.

New Party candidate Glen Hamilton charged Saanich Reeve George Chatterton, Progressive Conservative candidate, was using a municipal bylaw "to further his own political ambitions."

CHEQUE, CHUCKLE

Municipal and Conservative officials promptly labelled the accusation false. Reeve Chatterton, himself, replied with a cheque and a chuckle.

Mr. Hamilton made his charge after Saanich municipal officials ordered him to remove a large sign from his own property at Royal Oak as it contravenes Saanich's sign bylaw.

LARGE SIGN

The large sign was erected in front of Mr. Hamilton's house on the Patricia Bay Highway, near Reeve Chatterton's house.

"It's a denial of political democracy," Mr. Hamilton stormed. "It smacks of South Africa rather than Canada." Reeve Chatterton was born in South Africa.

A spokesman for the Progressive Conservative party branded Mr. Hamilton's charge "an insult to all Saanich employees."

"It is an insult because it implies that the staff would carry out instructions for political purposes and it's an insult to imply that Saanich employees should not enforce the bylaws of the municipality."

BLANK CHEQUE

Reeve Chatterton deposited a blank cheque with the Colonist, made out in Mr. Hamilton's name, to pay any fine he might receive for breaking the sign bylaw.

"The sign is right across from the window near our breakfast table," he said last night, "and it is worth paying the fine for Mr. Hamilton if we don't have any more of our meals spoiled."

He said he had not asked the municipal staff to take action over the sign.

SINCE 1952

Saanich planner Antony Parr said last night the section of the bylaw under which Mr. Hamilton was ordered to remove the sign had been in effect since 1952.

"All the municipal staff is doing is enforcing the bylaw," said Mr. Parr. "It's not just for political signs . . . some 40 to 50 other signs have been ordered taken down in the past few months."

Mr. Parr said the only political party authorized to put up a sign at its campaign headquarters was the Conservative organization.

But this was because the Conservatives were the only ones to apply for the municipal permission.

NOT ZONED

He said other parties could apply to erect signs at their headquarters and would be given permission but that Mr. Hamilton's sign was on a property not zoned for signs under any circumstances.

Mr. Hamilton said he had no objection to the bylaw insofar as it banned political signs on municipal property and power poles.

OWN PROPERTY

But, he said, people should be allowed to put up a sign on their own property if they want to.

"It's a most invidious law," he said.

"It appears to me that the reeve of Saanich is using a bylaw to further his own political ambitions.

TV ADVERTISING

"His party has the money for television advertising — we don't," said Mr. Hamilton. "How can we compete under these circumstances?"

The candidate termed it "indirect dictatorship."

Chamber Asks Action On Harbor 'Disgrace'

For 10 months every year, Victoria's Inner Harbor is a "disgrace" with its floating logs, deadhead and debris, and Capt. G. A. Veres, chairman of transportation and harbor group of Victoria Chamber of Commerce wants something done about it.

Capt. Veres won directors' approval to ask the city parks department to arrange more frequent clearings of the harbor, and in particular to begin the clean-up early in the tourist season.

TWO MONTHS

The only work done now is for two months, after July 15. The harbor group wants the cleaning started in time for next month's Swiftsure Race.

Capt. G. R. Newell, director, and Victoria harbormaster, said the difficulty about keeping the harbor clean was because industrial debris from other parts of the coast tended to collect in a back-eddy outside the harbor entry. This then entered the harbor and Victoria was plagued with a lot of rubbish that did not generate from the city harbor users.

CHARGE MADE

Director Courtney Haddock suggested that to provide the city with funds for the cleaning job, a charge should be made on all visiting yachtsmen and others who use the city floats.

This suggestion was incorporated in a letter the chamber will send to the city asking for action.

MOTION APPROVED

The Chamber also approved a motion by Capt. Newell, chairman of the university sub-committee endorsing heartily the decision of the university council to develop the Gordon Head site as its campus, and also approved the move to purchase a further 140 acres to the north of Cedar Hill Cross Road as recommended in the recent report by Dean Wurster of University of California.

Director Haddock called on the chamber to do everything in its power to improve the appearance of the Douglas Street entry to the city.

He described the present highway with its partial industrial development as extremely "ugly."

TOO LATE

"If we do not have trees planted soon, it may be too late and the appearance of what should be a lovely street may be ruined for ever," he said.

The civic affairs group was asked to look into the matter after Reeve George Chatterton of Saanich explained the difficulties attendant upon the Capital Improvement District Commission's willingness to spend $180,000 on the project.

FINALLY ADOPTED

Mr. Chatterton said the CIDC's suggestion that Douglas should be narrowed north of Burnside had his own approval, but had been rejected by Saanich council, until the Blanshard Street extension was finally adopted.

Mr. Chatterton explained that the main difficulty lay in the utility poles which skirted the street. The BCE had declined to put wires underground, and the CIDC could not subsidize such an operation.

Elected by Victoria Chamber to the B.C. Chamber of Commerce were Conway Parrott and W. C. Mearns, while President M. Aubrey Kent will be the Victoria voting delegate at the forthcoming B.C. Chamber annual meeting.

Howard MacKay was appointed to the executive committee in place of William Gilmour who has left Victoria.

Premier Bennett and members of the B.C. cabinet will attend keel-laying ceremonies for the third provincial government ferry at Victoria Machinery Depot May 1.

Mrs. Percy B. Scurrah, wife of Victoria's mayor, will officially lay the first keel section of the new $3,600,000 ship at 11.15 a.m. in VMD's Outer Wharf plant.

FALL LAUNCHING

Harold Husband, president of VMD, said last night preliminary work on the ferry is on schedule. It is expected to be launched sometime in the fall for delivery in February, 1962, Mr. Husband said.

He said the record-breaking performance of completing the Mv Sidney, first of the ships for the mainland fast ferry service, in 12 months, will be bettered by two months on this slightly bigger vessel.

Know Any Live Fishers? They're Worth $100 Each

* * *

Peter Bruton's Capital Notebook

* * *

MONEY FUR NOTHING: If you know where you can get hold of a live fisher grab him quickly.

The Americans are buying them for $100 apiece.

A fisher is a North American member of the weasel family . . . trappers call it a "black cat" . . . and it seems they're not so rare in B.C. as they are in the U.S.

A year or so ago Frank Butler, director of the fish and game branch, was talking to a Montana wildlife colleague.

"How are you fixed for fishers?" asked the Montanan.

"We're fixed fine," said Frank.

The Montana man offered $100 for every live fisher that could be caught and delivered to his state's game areas.

Since then B.C. trappers have been fisher-crazy.

So far they've delivered about 50 . . . but not all to Montana. Washington and Oregon officials, hearing of the Montana windfall, also got into the act and offered the same price. And now Idaho wants fishers as well.

HEARD IN PASSING: An announcer on a local radio station the other day urged his listeners to be sure to watch "Channel 6 jerkus . . . er . . . circus."

* * *

"GROOS - ROOTS" CAMPAIGN: Some time ago we had occasion to mention the fact that the Liberal candidate Capt. David Groos was being humanized in an attempt to make him one of the boys as it were in the eyes of his electorate . . .

At that time a certain section of the public prints began referring to the good captain as Davie . . . not Captain, not Mr., not even David—but just plain Davie.

This was clever.

There's something about the name Davie which conjures up a mental picture of the dashing hero or the brilliant young up-an-coming statesman while at the same time there's that air of informality.

But now they've gone one step further.

Now it's plain Dave.

"Would you be willing to have a small coffee party for Dave?" is one of the questions asked of volunteer Liberal workers. "Would you be willing to usefully dispose of 20 of Dave's calling cards to voters in the riding?"

All of which brings us around to a situation we would like to be present at should it ever occur.

What would happen, we wonder, if an Able Seaman who is a registered voter in the riding and who served under "Dave" on HMCS Ontario was to approach the candidate at a meeting and call him "Dave" to his face?

Ah, well, We probably won't hear about it.

COOK'S TOUR: Party of 12 high school students from Coulee City, Wash., toured the city yesterday to take in the sights.

The students have been saving for the past four years to finance such trips by holding wiener roasts, dances and the like. This time they hired a Greyhound bus and arrived on the Coho yesterday afternoon.

The students toured the maritime museum, the legislative buildings, the Empress and went round the Marine Drive.

The publicity bureau people made up folders on the city for the youngsters and sent a local bus driver around with them to act as a tourist guide.

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: Our 16-year-old daughter is a nervous wreck. About 10 days ago someone started the rumor that she is pregnant. It is the talk of the school.

There is no truth whatever in the story, but once a thing like this gets going how do you stop it? Our daughter has pleaded with us to let her change schools. She just can't bear to have the kids whispering about her behind her back.

My husband thinks we should ask the superintendent for permission to have her transferred. She would prefer leaving the city and finishing the school year in the small town where her married sister lives. Please help us. We are too upset to think clearly.—MRS. C.

★ ★ ★ ★

Dear Mrs. C.: Don't let her change schools or leave the city. A perfect attendance record is the only way to explode the lie.

Your daughter needs your support and guidance. Don't let her down by helping her to run from the situation.

Dear Ann Landers: Every two years my sister-in-law comes home from overseas. She brings four children and a dog.

A month before they arrive we get a cable asking us to rent a car, phone the family, stock up on baby food, dog food, and buy steaks (which she misses over there), get a crib, play pen, high chair etc., and meet the ship.

Our home is a free hotel for stop-overs while they visit around. When they leave we must return the paraphernalia and have a farewell party. We wouldn't mind if they were appreciative, but we have yet to hear one word of thanks. They just assume we are thrilled to do it. We are fed up and want your advice on how to get out of it gracefully.—L.K.

Dear L.K.: There's no way to get out of it "gracefully" but you CAN get out of it if you want to. This suggested cable will cool off the relationship but if it's what you want to accomplish then go ahead and send it:

"Sorry but we can do nothing for you this time as we are busy with conflicting plans. Better contact other members of the family this year.—L.K."

(P.S.—This column appears in some foreign countries, so perhaps you'd better change the wording a little!).

★ ★ ★

Dear Ann Landers: Our children are from three years of age up to 15. My husband is a sweet man but he refuses to discipline them. Because of his chicken-heartedness, all the disciplining is left up to me. The children call me "The Warden" and "The Meanie." I think they are only half kidding.

Is it fair for me to be known as the tough one just because I want them to grow up with a sense of responsibility and personal integrity.? Please reply in print.—WARDEN.

Dear Warden: Don't worry about what your children will think of you. They may gripe about your toughness but so long as you are fair, they will love you and not resent the discipline. In years to come they will think of you as the parent who had the courage and wisdom to make them toe the mark.

Social Work an Art Says Guest Speaker

At the recent meeting of the Victoria Home Economics and Dietetic Association at the Art Gallery, a committee was formed to work on a recipe book of casserole dishes with Mrs. J. A. Clay as convener.

It was announced that the annual dinner will be held May 10 at the Colonial Hotel at 7 p.m.

Mr. Gerhard Lortie, case work supervisor of Family and Childrens Services, was guest speaker, and was introduced by Mrs. Harry Donaldson.

He gave a vivid picture of the work done in this field, emphasizing that social work is an art, hence social workers need intuition, knowledge and experience.

The Family and Children's Services is totally different from the Family Welfare, he explained, and deals with people who have various problems, thus making them unable to work to the best of their ability.

Mr. Lortie illustrated his talk with hypothetical cases to explain the problems faced.

He closed with the thought-provoking question, "Why are billions of dollars spent on everything but the Science of Human Personalities."

Refreshments were served by social convener, Mrs. E. Thomas and committee.

International Trade Fair

Jewels in Replica Coming to Vancouver

VANCOUVER — Centuries of romance, intrigue and history are represented in the world's most famous collection of diamonds, coming to Vancouver for the B.C. International Trade Fair, commencing May 3.

Featuring the British crown jewels and the world's largest diamond, this pageant of jewels in replica is being presented at the fair by Canadian Pacific Airlines.

The originals of this collection are among the British crown jewels and are valued at $300,000,000. These copies are worth $75,000 according to the exhibit's owner, Miss Eveline McCullagh of New York.

Approximately 45 replicas, including crowns, tiaras, sceptres and swords, depicting the history of British royalty from the time of King Charles II, and 28 world-famous diamonds will be on display. Fairgoers will see Queen Elizabeth II's tiara, which was worn by the Queen to her coronation, and the tiara of the Queen Mother Elizabeth, which was worn by Queen Elizabeth II on her wedding day.

Three of the replicas have actually been used by royalty: the King's sceptre, containing the largest of the four Stars of Africa, the jeweled sword and the imperial state crown. These duplicates were made in time for George VI to use during rehearsals for his coronation in 1936.

The "diamonds" in the collection consist of white sapphires and special rock crystal. Some of the replicas were cut 150 years ago, but the entire collection came into being in 1937 after two years of work under the supervision of the court jewelers, the only people who have access to the real jewels.

They are exact reproductions and are identical in size, shape and color to the originals in the Tower of London.

Miss McCullagh, who has travelled throughout North America and Europe with her collection, will be on hand at the CPA booth to relate the often romantic, occasionally violent story of these jewels, some of which have changed the course of history.

The B.C. International Trade Fair is open to the public at Exhibition Park from May 3 to 13.

Unwed Mothers

Mayor-Minister Raps 'Most Immoral' Law

WINNIPEG (CP) — Mayor Lloyd Henderson of Portage la Prairie, defeated candidate for the leadership of the Manitoba Liberal party, said Friday the Manitoba program for allowances for unmarried mothers is the "most immoral piece of legislation ever perpetrated on any people in the British Commonwealth."

He told the Liberal leadership convention it is "stupid" to provide, as social allowance legislation does, for allowances for unmarried mothers with two or more children. Unmarried mothers with one child should also receive assistance.

"The way it is now, the health department — or even the premier—is saying: 'You've done very well, little girl, but come back next year when you have two children and we'll help you,'" said the mayor, a Presbyterian minister.

Mission Plane On B.C. Coast?

Sea-going Anglican missionaries along the B.C. coast may soon be taking to the air.

Rev. Patrick Ellis, new superintendent of the Columbia Coast Mission, has recommended scrapping one of the mission's three ships and replacing it with a plane.

THREE SHIPS

In his report to the 59th synod of the Diocese of British Columbia at Christ Church Cathedral this week, Mr. Ellis reported three ships in operation along the coast during the year. But the cruiser Rendezvous is getting old and expensive to operate.

Mr. Ellis said the prime need now was faster transportation for mission work at the northern end of Vancouver Island.

"I am seriously considering the use of a plane, which should be cheaper to buy and operate than a boat," he reported.

NEXT PARISH

He said the area "concerns me very much because this will undoubtedly be the next one to become a parish.

"When the Island Highway is completed, Port Hardy, Port McNeill, Beaver Cove and Sayward must all be brought to the condition where they can be the nucleus of a parish or parishes."

The Columbia Coast Mission has five priests and seven layworkers. They operate three ships, six churches, a mission house and clinic on an annual budget of between $55,000 and $60,000.

THE VOICE OF ONE

By REV. DR. FRANK S. MORLEY

The opening of the baseball season calls to mind one of the most dynamic personalities in athletics, that grand old man Branch Rickey. Jackie Robinson says the faith imparted by Rickey gave him courage to break through the major league color bar.

He has principles as ironclad as his constitution and is deeply religious, passionately devoted to Jesus Christ. Rickey maintains that three qualities make the champion—belief in his job, overwhelming passion for perfection and drive or determination.

It is inspiring to find many athletes—the idols of youth—with so much faith. Many have gone into the service of the church. Tom Henrich, the Yankee outfielder, became a Lutheran minister. The Cards' pitcher, Lindy McDaniel, is sudying for the ministry.

'Pirate' Church Elder

Vernon Law of the Pittsburgh Pirates is an elder in the Mormon Church. Jack Fasholtz, who was with the St. Louis Cards, is also a Lutheran clergyman.

Pepper Martin was unabashedly religious, startling those reporters who expected him to be the same rough, tough lad off the diamond as he was on it. Carl Erskine, who pitched a no-hit game against Chicago Cubs in 1952 and set a new record by striking out 14 New York Yankees in the 1953 world series, says his supreme achievement was due to his religious faith.

He thanks Marv Rackley, his Dodger roommate, for giving him the habit of reading the Bible on road trips. Bob Richards, the Olympic pole vaulter, credits faith with giving him "that extra boost" which makes a champion. He too is now a clergyman.

Attack on Delinquency

Don McClanen, basketball coach at Eastern Oklahoma A and M, organized the Fellowship of Christian Athletes at Estes Park, Col., where young athletes can catch passes from "Mr. Quarterback" Otto Graham, bat against Bob Feller, watch Bob Richards pole vault and play volley ball with All America lineman Donn Moomaw.

Palmer Hoyt, publisher of the Denver Post, writes of this remarkable movement: "I consider this a frontal attack on juvenile delinquency." In recruiting his teams, McClanen said, "we want men who are not afraid to stand up for Christ in the locker room as well as in the church, modestly, humbly and sincerely."

Branch Rickey says: "I speak as a layman, as a man who goes to church and likes it, as one who has served on a Methodist official board, and likes that. I am anxious to see the church I love effective and influential in the chaos about us. My church moulds human life and spiritualizes individual character and social action."

Missions Merged

TORONTO (CP) — The United Church of Canada announced Friday a new organization will be formed Jan. 1, 1962, incorporating the board of overseas missions and overseas work now handled by the women's missionary society. The board of overseas missions, which concluded its annual meeting here Friday, will be known as the board of world missions.

A-Arms Sunday Topic

Dr. Hugh Keenleyside will be one of three speakers considering the question: "Should Canada have nuclear weapons?" on a CBC trans-Canada network broadcast Sunday, arranged by the United Church of Canada.

The program will be broadcast by CBU Vancouver from 2 to 2.30 p.m.

Other speakers besides Dr. Keenleyside, chairman of the B.C. Power Commission and chairman of the national committee for control of radiation hazards, will be Rev. Dr. James M. Finlay, minister of St. Luke's United Church in Toronto, and Rev. Dr. James R. Mutchmor, of Toronto, secretary of the United Church board of evangelism and social service.

Policemen Face Punishment 'To Put Them on Their Toes'

Disciplinary action will be taken against city police officers involved when a prisoner escaped from city jail last Saturday, Chief Const. John Blackstock said yesterday—but he declined to say what form the action would take or to name the officers.

James Butterworth, 23, of Vancouver, disappeared while waiting to be taken across the driveway from the police charge office for a morning shave. He was recaptured some hours later by Const. T. K. Anthony.

Chief Blackstock said: "I'm tickled to death it happened—that is, the way it did.

"For years I've wanted the jail redesigned so the walk to the naval shore patrol office for a shave would not be necessary," Chief Blackstock said.

"Anyone doing the same little job, day after day, over a long period is apt to get a little careless. It takes something like this to put them back on their toes."

PROMOTIONS

Const. Anthony, promoted yesterday to second-class constable, was commended by the city police commission for his alertness.

Promoted with him was Const. James Hotchkiss. Consts. A. V. Archbold and Einar Hemstad were promoted to first-class constable.

Commission confirmed a budget of $681,607 for presentation to city council to cover 1961 operations.

$6,000 LESS

The amount, $18,613 above that of 1960, includes annual increments and essential equipment of $24,000, so, as Commissioner William Hamilton said, "We're trying to run the department on $6,000 less than last year."

Chief Blackstock has approved, subject to confirmation by the city building inspector, an application by the Victoria Sports Club to move from Yates and Douglas to a building in the 600 block Cormorant.

Drinker Admits Bad Language

Fines totalling $75 were levied against Walter Settler, 20, of 3361 Veteran, after he pleaded guilty in city police court yesterday to two charges following a disturbance April 2 in a city cafe.

Magistrate William Ostler fined him $25 for creating a disturbance by using offensive language and $50 for consuming liquor in a public place.

Details were given the court by Robert A. Macmillan, owner of the restaurant at 617 Gorge East.

★ ★ ★

Shirley Ann Wiebe, 18, no fixed address, was sentenced to two months in jail after admitting theft of a radio and a wrist watch from a Victoria home.

★ ★ ★

Eugene Carson Hunt, 348 Michigan, was fined $100 for assault causing bodily harm to Graham Russell. In addition, he was placed under bond of $100 to keep the peace for one year.

★ ★ ★

Two charges involving liquor were heard yesterday in Colwood police court.

Raymond Edward Cornell, East Sooke, was fined $50 for consuming liquor in a public place and Thomas Charles, Becher Bay Indian Reserve, was fined $15 for possessing liquor off a reservation.

9 IN MEMORIAM

McBAY—Treasured memories of our grandson, Patrick Michael McBay, who passed away April 22, 1957, age 13 years.
He walks with us
And he talks with us
He tells us he is our own.
And the joy we share
As we carry there
None other has ever known
Each dawning day a thought for him
At eventide a prayer
—Will never be forgotten by Gran and Grandpa McBay

McBAY — In loving memory of Patrick Michael McBay, who passed away April 22 1957
Sometime someone someone felt
Love's remembrance radiate all
And though the years be many or few,
They are filled with remembrance dear of you —Ever remembered by mother dad and brother Bob

WHITTAKER—In loving memory of my husband, Joseph Whittaker, who passed away April 22 1959.
Nothing can ever take away
Fond memories linger every day
Remembrance keeps him dear
—Ever remembered by his wife, Mary

SIDING

"Keystone" clear kiln dried siding is the finest available — a quality material for all applications where perfection is required.

THE LUMBER

Western red cedar lumber is noted for its exceptional durability, light weight and beautiful color, ranging from almost pure white of the narrow sapwood to reddish brown heartwood. It is very easily worked, is free from pitch, takes and holds stains, paints and enamels excellently, and is superior for gluing. Because of these qualities, Western red cedar is especially adaptable for use as bevel siding for quality homes.

DURABILITY

Western red cedar is one of the most durable species known. Its heartwood is highly resistant to decay, and can be counted on for long and worthy service where conditions favoring decay prevail.

WEATHERING CHARACTERISTICS

Left exposed without paint or other protective finishes, Western red cedar weathers to an intriguing grey color having little or no sheen. It is one of the most stable species of lumber, having very little tendency to cup and pull loose from fastenings when exposed to the weather.

INSULATING QUALITIES

Western red cedar has the highest insulating value of all commonly - used soft woods — another point in its favor as siding, of particular importance when used as roof decking.

Winning Contract

By HOWARD SCHENKEN and RICHARD L. FREEY

Today's Intercollegiate deal is a generous one, with pars awarded to both sides. East-West win theirs by bidding game, even though they do not make it. And North-South get a par if they find the winning defence. It would be nice if all bridge hands were scored the same way; that is, if each side was rewarded for doing its best. But this happens only in par bridge championship games. In other games, the powerful hands usually win the points.

Four hearts is a reasonable contract for East-West. It might be reached by an immediate four-heart bid on East's part, or by the bidding shown on the diagram.

South's opening lead of the lowest diamond should alert East to the danger of an overruff when North wins the first trick with the queen and returns the ten-spot. This low card, rather than one of the high honors North is known to have, is a suit-preference signal. It tells South that his partner's re-entry is in the lower-ranking side suit—clubs.

East must ruff with an honor to avoid the patent threat of an overruff, and South can build a second trump trick for himself by refusing to overruff with the ace. (If he does, East can ruff a third diamond high and pull South's remaining trumps.) By discarding instead, South sets declarer up for trouble when the third diamond lead comes.

East must lead a trump honor to force South's ace. North is put in with the club ace for another diamond lead and declarer can't prevent South from scoring the setting trick either then or later with his nine of trumps.

Get All the Facts Councillors Told

Loganberries Suggested For Menus

George Hahn, Social Credit candidate in the Saanich-Esquimalt federal byelection, would like to see Saanich-grown loganberries on the menus of federally-operated hotels, railways and airlines.

At a meeting of the Esquimalt Provincial Social Credit Constituency Association at Colwood Hall last night, Mr. Hahn said federal and provincial governments should co-operate on extending the sale of Saanich-grown loganberries.

FOR SALE

He told the meeting that loganberry wine, made from berries grown on the Saanich Peninsula, will be introduced for sale in the Midlands area of Great Britain shortly.

He said the sale was due to provincial government sales campaigns.

100-TON SURPLUS

He said a similar campaign on a federal-provincial level would help sell a current 100-ton surplus stocked by Saanich growers.

Saanich councillors should wait until they have all the facts before announcing opposition to a Vancouver firm's plans to establish a 70-acre industrial estate in the municipality, Reeve George Chatterton said last night.

"I haven't had full information about this proposal and neither has the council," he said. "This is an important matter to Saanich and I feel we should hold open minds until we get the facts."

He was commenting on the stand of Councillors Leslie Passmore and Gregory Cook, both of whom have announced they oppose the scheme.

$14,000 For Gallery?

The Art Gallery of Greater Victoria might be given an unexpected $14,000 in the near future.

The money was left over from the 1958 centennial celebrations fund for Greater Victoria. It has since been held in trust by a small committee headed by Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow.

REEVE'S IDEA

A suggestion that the money be donated to the art gallery for specified purposes will be made at the next meeting of the trust fund committee by Reeve George Chatterton, a member.

"The art gallery is one of the most valuable and worthy institutions we have and it could put the money to good use," he said.

MORE BENEFIT

"The gallery could use the money to build a library, which is needed, or to increase its endowment fund if the gallery board feels it might be of more benefit," he said.

Reeve Chatterton, Progressive Conservative candidate in the May 29 Esquimalt-Saanich byelection, said he was not in favor of using the $14,000 as the nucleus of a fund to build an auditorium for the area.

"The amount is so small that it would not be a significant start on an auditorium," he said, "and there might be difficulties in administering this trust fund in the future."

Other members of the trust fund committee are Reeve George Murdoch of Oak Bay and Coun. G. K. Sammon of Esquimalt.

Both were in favor of donating the money to the art gallery. Ald. Edgelow was not available for comment.

To highlight their anti-litter week, Victoria Jaycees are sending a "litterbug" through the downtown area between noon and 1 p.m. Monday to Friday—a different one each day.

The "litterbug" will stroll about, dropping litter in the streets. Any person who approaches the "litterbug" and asks "Are you the Jaycee litterbug?" will win two free weekly passes to the Jaycee fair.

An official naval statement yesterday said the Beacon Hill and New Glasgow were on the homeward leg of a training cruise to Australia and New Zealand.

Fireworks Sale To Be Restricted Throughout Area

Intermunicipal committee yesterday set the stage for creation of uniform regulations throughout Greater Victoria covering sale and use of fireworks in the four member municipalities.

The committe will ask municipal solicitors to draw up a proposed bylaw restricting sale of fireworks to two days prior to Halloween and on Halloween until 6 p.m.

AFTER MIDNIGHT

Use of fireworks will be prohibited after midnight on Halloween except with the consent of the council in whose municipality they are to be touched off.

The latter provision was made to enable the use of fireworks at certain Chinese festivals held each year.

The committee also:

- Agreed that sufficient space exists to provide for a tuberculosis clinic at the Pembroke and Cameron site chosen for a new juvenile detention home.
- Agreed to postpone further action on creation of a universal emergency telephone numebr for the Greater Victoria area until complete costs of operation are produced.
- Decided to ask for details of a city plan to replace a vandalized bust of Queen Elizabeth II in Beacon Hill Park with a bronze plaque or horticultural display.
- Requested the Metropolitan Board of Health to consult provincial authorities on the possibility of having a meat inspection centre set up in the area and prepare a draft meat inspection bylaw for consideration by Victoria, Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt councils.

Door-Sale Bonds Demanded

Greater Victoria intermunicipal committee voted yesterday to seek provincial legislation requiring the posting of $5,000 bonds by persons or firms dealing door-to-door directly with the public.

The committee, acting on a recommendation from licence inspectors of the four Greater Victoria municipalities, authorized preparation of a resolution which will go before the annual meeting of the Vancouver Island Municipalities Association May 3.

CAR DEALERS

The resolution will ask for similar bonding legislation to that which requires B.C. automobile dealers to post $5,000 bonds.

Purpose of the legislation proposed by the intermunicipal committee is "to enable persons to take appropriate action against firms guilty of fraud or misrepresentation."

FURTHER PLEAS

Tabled pending consideration were further licence inspectors' requests for:

1. Uniform municipal bylaws covering licensing of agents for outside supply houses and fees of $100 per salesman in each municipality.
2. Authorization to investigate the merits of a local better business bureau.
3. Greater Victoria councils to seek legislation prohibiting certain lines of direct selling where such lines are not represented by a local business establishment.
4. A study to provide licence bylaw uniformity for transient types of business.

Judge Frees 'Wife with Many Sorrows'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Florence Browne, 41, acquitted earlier of trying to murder her husband Douglas, 52, won a suspended sentence Friday on a reduced charge of causing bodily harm.

Mr. Justice T. W. Browne said: "The evidence showed you were a good wife and mother with many sorrows. I do not intend to add to them with a lecture. The court is satisfied you will never again raise a violent hand to another human being."

'Gift' Caused Beer Crackdown

Suspension this week of a brewing company's sales for one month followed an unsuccessful attempt to gain a slice of a B.C. draught beer market, according to Vancouver reports.

The Colonist earlier reported the B.C. Liquor Control Board had suspended sales of O'Keefe Brewing Company (B.C.) Ltd. for 30 days and suspended beer parlor licences of Victoria's Drake Hotel and the St. Helen's in Vancouver for one week.

At that time LCB officials refused to disclose what the violation of B.C. Liquor Act was but did say it was one of the severest penalties ever levied against a brewery.

Vancouver reports said O'Keefe is trying to promote sale of its draught beer that will be available with the completion of a new plant next month.

It had distributed a small number of barrels of beer to some hotels, an action claimed by the LCB as a giveaway and thus in contravention of the province's liquor regulations.

Effect of the suspension is that no O'Keefe product will be sold over liquor board counters for the 30-day period.

FRENCH TROOPS IN ALGERIA REVOLT, TAKE OVER CAPITAL

Tanganyika First For Peace Corps

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy has announced that the first team of peace corps volunteers had been assigned to Tanganyika to help the African nation map and build roads.

Training in Puerto Rico will condition the volunteers to long route marches, "the worst beds they've slept on in their lives" and to a "monotonous diet" consisting mostly of rice and beans.

De Gaulle Leader Arrested

ALGIERS (UPI)—Para-troops under the command of generals opposed to President Charles de Gaulle's Algeria policies took over the Algerian capital early today.

By 7 a.m. (1 a.m. EST), the dissident troops had seized the official residence of delegate Gen. Jean Morin, de Gaulle's chief civilian representative in Algeria, and taken Morin prisoner.

STRATEGIC POINTS

Troops under the command of the rebel generals began seizing strategic points at 6.30 a.m. There were no immediate reports of fighting.

The bloodless uprising was directed by Gen. Maurice Challe and included Generals Andre Zeller and Edmond Jouhaud.

FIRST HINT

Paris' first hint of trouble came when normal communications with Algiers went dead at 5.05 a.m.

There were reports that three paratroop regiments had encircled the capital.

A communique said:

"This morning civilian and military authorities in Algiers were unable to perform their functions because of undiscipline of some army officers and some troops.

SITUATION CALM

"Elsewhere in Algeria the situation remains calm.

"The government took during the night the necessary decisions, which will be published today."

Although no details were available immediately, it appeared that the revolt was the culmination of years of simmering army resentment of French civil policy in Algeria.

Dissident troops played a major part in the 1958 revolt which wrecked France's 4th republic and returned President Charles de Gaulle to power.

ORDERED HOME

Gen. Raoul Salan was relieved of supreme command in Algeria and ordered home because he opposed de Gaulle's plan.

Yesterday, police in the naval base city of Toulon reported that the family of de Gaulle's naval officer son Philippe had been threatened, apparently by foes of the president's Algeria plans.

New Arrests Jam Prisons

HAVANA (Reuters) — New arrests crammed Cuba's already-packed jails Friday night as Premier Fidel Castro's return to Havana from operations against the crushed invading forces was awaited. . .

It was difficult to find anyone in Havana who did not know at least one person under arrest.

Wounded militiamen returning to Havana brought back news of the severity of the fighting. Newspaper photographs showed it was a savage, pitched battle between soldiers with modern weapons.

Havana was quiet and there was no real heroes' welcome for the militia returning there in their Czech-built trucks. The militia waved their rifles. Passersby simply waved back.

FEW TANKS

An almost universal conclusion was that the equipment and loyalty of Castro forces surprised the invaders, who apparently pitted a few Sherman tanks against Castro's known 50 tanks and obsolete planes against MIG fighters—the ownership of which has not yet been acknowledged by the government.

The radio painted a picture of heavy losses suffered by invaders.

GREAT FEROCITY

The national radio said 175 paratroopers in the Cienga de Zapata area had fought with "great ferocity." It said the rebels were dropped from C-46s which had flown from Nicaragua.

Visitors to jails said living conditions for prisoners in overcrowded cells were deteriorating rapidly.

300 PRISONERS

The government named more than 300 prisoners in an announcement Friday.

The national radio earlier gave the first detailed account of fighting since last weekend's landings, lifting a curtain of secrecy that surrounded Castro's movements. It told of his field direction of an operation that forced rebels into a swamp "trap."

INVADERS PINNED

It said Castro pinned the invaders down with artillery fire on both flanks and attacked their centre with riflemen, "forcing the invaders into the marshes, where they were trapped."

More than 350 prisoners were taken in the fighting, including Dr. Jose Miro Torres, son of counter-revolutionary leader Dr. Jose Miro Cardona; the son of Emilio Ochoa, a prominent anti-Castro leader; and three sons of industrialist millionaire Alfredo Baburn.

Prisoners confessed to being taken from Florida to Guatemala and Nicaragua in military transport planes prior to the invasion, the radio said. There were four priests and a four-man medical aid team among the prisoners.

Editor, Publisher, Historic Figure Victor Sifton Dies

WINNIPEG (CP)—Victor Sifton, one of Canada's historic newspaper figures, died suddenly late Friday a few hours after he had taken his usual active part in the day's publication of the Winnipeg Free Press. He was 64.

Mr. Sifton, member of a distinguished Canadian family who added lustre to its name in a wide variety of fields, collapsed and died in his doctor's office at the Winnipeg clinic, where he had gone for a medical checkup.

HEART ATTACK

He died of a heart attack while he was sitting in consultation with his physician.

No plans for funeral services were made immediately as Mrs. Sifton and their son, John, were both away from Winnipeg.

Mr. Sifton, editor and publisher of The Free Press and chairman of the board of F.P. Publications Limited which owns or controls seven Canadian newspapers, was in his office as usual during the morning and presided at the daily editorial conference.

After the paper had gone to press, Mr. Sifton complained of being unwell and went to the office of Dr. Louis Chernisk. He told associates he would visit the physician before going to a dinner engagement.

Albert Boothe, managing editor of The Free Press, said the newspaper head was his usual self at the editorial conference.

Two U.S. Blunders Involved In Cuban Invasion Failure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two major intelligence miscalculations were involved in the failure of anti-Castro Cubans to regain their homeland this week, administration officials said last night.

They said U.S. officials had some doubts about the invasion. But Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and the Central Intelligence Agency all agree with President Kennedy's decision not to discourage the operation.

There was disagreement between the various government agencies as to where the blame lay for intelligence miscalculations. One high source was said to have expressed the view that the entire government was at fault.

Officials said these were the points on which the intelligence came up short:

● There was a major underestimation of Castro's military strength, his ability to mobilize troops and their willingness to fight.

● Both U.S. and Cuban rebel intelligence misjudged the degree of police state control which Castro has over Cuba and which prevented a general uprising of the people.

Officials said it was not known that Castro had Soviet MIG fighter planes in flying condition.

It all began nearly a year ago when Cubans who had fled here began making plans to some day reconquer their island.

Officials insisted that no military training was done here during that period, but took place in Guatemala and presumably other Latin countries.

But the rebel leadership obtained advice here, and supplies were procured.

The Kennedy administration obviously had misgivings over the military venture. But for a variety of reasons it did not try to discourage the uprising, and publicly gave it moral support.

There had been a hope that more of Castro's military forces would defect than the few pilots who bombed their own bases.

It was learned that the rebel land party was equipped with American made Sherman tanks but that Castro's fire prevented them from getting ashore, and they ended up "blown into the water."

The number of men taking part in the rebel assault still was in dispute. The best estimate here was that it consisted of about 1,200 men, only a "few hundred" of whom were able to stay ashore.

Congo Finances

Another Pitfall Facing UN

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — The United Nations fell into a new crisis early today when the 15th General Assembly defeated a measure for interim financing of the UN Congo operation.

The vote was 45 to 25 with 27 abstentions—short of the required two-thirds majority needed for approval — and it came after Canada warned that failure to support the financing measure would cause the UN Congo operation to fall to the ground.

The vote was taken after midnight — when UN Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold's authorization for spending in The Congo expired.

The new turn for the worse in the UN's long financial dilemma came as the 15th assembly prepared to end its session. It wasn't clear what action might be taken now to provide for the UN Congo force comprising some 17,000 men, including 280 Canadians.

But India proposed a special session of the general assembly be held next week to provide financing of the Congo operation.

Lumber Falls Worker Dies

TAHSIS (CP) — Donn J. Byrnes, 33, of Duncan, was killed Thursday when a pile of lumber collapsed and fell on top of him.

The accident occurred in front of the office of Tahsis Lumber Co. Police said Byrnes died instantly. An inquest will be held.

Mr. Byrnes' home was on Vaux Road, Glenora, near Duncan. He leaves a widow and two small daughters.

Mr. Byrnes had been working as a carpenter in Tahsis.

Rebel Captives Star on TV

MIAMI (UPI)—A prisoner from the anti-Castro invasion force last night gave defiant answers to the Cuban officials and newsmen questioning him on a nationwide radio and television program.

Pedro Nunez, a member of one of the island's oldest families, defended the free enterprise system despite questions apparently aimed at threatening him with execution.

One questioner told Nunez: "I would like to discuss these questions further with you after your trial, but I don't think you'll have much time to discuss anything."

Nunez, who said he defected from Castro's army in 1959, said he came to Cuba "to establish a regime of law, under the constitution of 1940."

A paratrooper named Jose Austin Bayona told his questioners he was trained in Guatemala, with some of his instructors North Americans and some Latins, and then taken to Nicaragua.

He said the paratroopers had been instructed to seize highways and territory in the area of the sea landings.

Commons Roughs Up Tory 'Vision'

OTTAWA (CP) — Derision of the government's "northern vision" was alleged and denied Friday in the Commons.

The Liberals deride the vision of Northern development, said Erik Nielsen (PC—Yukon) in a long recital of expansion he said has developed north of the 60th parallel under the Progressive Conservatives.

All the Liberals have derided is the "ballyhoo" created by the government about its northern program, retorted Chesley W. Carter (L—Burin-Burgeo). After all, the Liberals had initiated the vision, creating the department of northern affairs and national resources in 1953.

The political scuffling came during study of the department's $83,000,000 spending program for the current fiscal year.

Douglas Fisher (CCF—Port Arthur) said the vision doesn't point the right way.

Mr. Fisher said resource development lags in spots a lot farther south than the Yukon and Northwest Territories.

Conservative supporters stoutly defended Northern Affairs Minister Dinsdale, appointed last October and facing his first Commons examination, against a suggestion Thursday night that he hasn't done much.

It was made by Mr. Fisher who expressed disappointment with Mr. Dinsdale's record so far in a department that the CCF MP said needs vigorous leadership.

Overtime Bill for City Could Be $220 a Day

* * *

Workers Ready To Sue

* * *

By TERRY HAMMOND

Victoria taxpayers will be faced with a $220-a-day overtime bill from civic inside workers starting May 1 unless council accepts a conciliation award handed down last month.

City council last week rejected an award which granted 158 inside workers a half-hour shorter day for the five summer months commencing May 1.

NO ALTERNATIVE

Members of the Victoria City Hall Employees' Association have accepted the award and contend that the city has no alternative but to accept it, too.

The city, by terms of its contract with the association, would have been bound to accept the award had it been the work of a conciliation board.

SINGLE OFFICER

But the award came from a single conciliation officer acting under a section of the B.C. Labor Relations Act which, under certain conditions, makes an officer's award tantamount to a board's award.

A Vancouver spokesman for the civic inside workers, Max Pierotti, said commencing May 1 members of the association will file claims for one-half-hour overtime each working day they are required to stay on the job until 5 p.m.

GET CONSENT

"If they don't get it we will have to report to the department of labor and get consent to sue," Mr. Pierotti told the Colonist.

If the association still got no satisfaction it would take steps to conduct a strike vote, he added.

He agreed a written "no strike" pact exists between the city and its inside workers, but added, "then the city would have to sue us."

TRICK QUESTION

Mr. Pierotti termed the city's reasoning that it is not bound by a conciliation officer's award as "an exercise in legal jingoism—one of these trick lawyer's questions like 'have you stopped beating your wife?'"

Unofficial estimates have placed cost of the overtime measure at $220 a day, or some $22,000 during the summer months.

"The only people who stand to gain from this dispute are the members of the legal profession," the association spokesman stated.

CONFUSION

He said the confusion over the award stems from the city's belief that it is entitled to the services of a conciliation board.

Informed of the association's plan to claim overtime if the award is not accepted before May 1, Mayor Scurrah declined to comment.

Huge sign outside the home of Glen Hamilton, New Party candidate, was ordered removed by Saanich officials as violation of sign bylaw.

Displaying a blank cheque made out to Glen Hamilton is Reeve George Chatterton. Cheque is to pay any fine levied against Mr. Hamilton.

Chatterton-Hamilton

'Battle of the Sign' Sparks Esquimalt-Saanich Contest

"The Battle of the Sign" boiled up yesterday as the first real clash between candidates in the Esquimalt-Saanich federal by-election campaign.

CHEQUE, CHUCKLE

Municipal and Conservative officials promptly labelled the accusation false. Reeve Chatterton, himself, replied with a cheque and a chuckle.

Mr. Hamilton made his charge after Saanich municipal officials ordered him to remove a large sign from his own property at Royal Oak as it contravenes Saanich's sign bylaw.

LARGE SIGN

The large sign was erected in front of Mr. Hamilton's house on the Patricia Bay Highway near Reeve Chatterton's house.

"It's a denial of political democracy," Mr. Hamilton stormed. "It smacks of South Africa rather than Canada." Reeve Chatterton was born in South Africa.

A spokesman for the Progressive Conservative party branded Mr. Hamilton's charge "an insult to all Saanich employees."

"It is an insult because it implies that the staff would carry out instructions for political purposes and it's an insult to imply that Saanich employees should not enforce the bylaws of the municipality."

BLANK CHEQUE

Reeve Chatterton deposited a blank cheque with the Colonist, made out in Mr. Hamilton's name, to pay any fine he might receive for breaking the sign bylaw.

"The sign is right across from the window near our breakfast table," he said last night, "and it is worth paying the fine for Mr. Hamilton if we don't have any more of our meals spoiled."

He said he had not asked the municipal staff to take action over the sign.

SINCE 1952

Saanich planner Antony Parr said last night the section of the bylaw under which Mr. Hamilton was ordered to remove the sign had been in effect since 1952.

"All the municipal staff is doing is enforcing the bylaw," said Mr. Parr. "It's not just for political signs . . . some 40 to 50 other signs have been ordered taken down in the past few months."

Mr. Parr said the only political party authorized to put up a sign at its campaign headquarters was the Conservative organization.

But this was because the Conservatives were the only ones to apply for the municipal permission.

NOT ZONED

He said other parties could apply to erect signs at their headquarters and would be given permission but that Mr. Hamilton's sign was on a property not zoned for signs under any circumstances.

Mr. Hamilton said he had no objection to the bylaw insofar as it banned political signs on municipal property and power poles.

OWN PROPERTY

But, he said, people should be allowed to put up a sign on their own property if they want to.

"It's a most invidious law," he said.

"It appears to me that the reeve of Saanich is using a bylaw to further his own political ambitions.

TV ADVERTISING

"His party has the money for television advertising — we don't," said Mr. Hamilton. "How can we compete under these circumstances?"

The candidate termed it "indirect dictatorship."

Chamber Asks Action On Harbor 'Disgrace'

For 10 months every year, Victoria's Inner Harbor is a "disgrace" with its floating logs, deadhead and debris, and Capt. G. A. Veres, chairman of transportation and harbor group of Victoria Chamber of Commerce wants something done about it.

Capt. Veres won directors' approval to ask the city parks department to arrange more frequent clearings of the harbor, and in particular to begin the clean-up early in the tourist season.

TWO MONTHS

The only work done now is for two months, after July 15. The harbor group wants the cleaning started in time for next month's Swiftsure Race.

Capt. G. R. Newell, director, and Victoria harbormaster, said the difficulty about keeping the harbor clean was because industrial debris from other parts of the coast tended to collect in a back-eddy outside the harbor entry. This then entered the harbor and Victoria was plagued with a lot of rubbish that did not generate from the city harbor users.

CHARGE MADE

Director Courtney Haddock suggested that to provide the city with funds for the cleaning job, a charge should be made on all visiting yachtsmen and others who use the city floats.

This suggestion was incorporated in a letter the chamber will send to the city asking for action.

MOTION APPROVED

The Chamber also approved a motion by Capt. Newell, chairman of the university sub-committee endorsing heartily the decision of the university council to develop the Gordon Head site as its campus, and also approved the move to purchase a further 140 acres to the north of Cedar Hill Cross Road as recommended in the recent report by Dean Wurster of University of California.

Director Haddock called on the chamber to do everything in its power to improve the appearance of the Douglas Street entry to the city.

He described the present highway with its partial industrial development as extremely "ugly."

TOO LATE

"If we do not have trees planted soon, it may be too late and the appearance of what should be a lovely street may be ruined for ever," he said.

The civic affairs group was asked to look into the matter after Reeve George Chatterton of Saanich explained the difficulties attendant upon the Capital Improvement District Commission's willingness to spend $180,000 on the project.

FINALLY ADOPTED

Mr. Chatterton said the CIDC's suggestion that Douglas should be narrowed north of Burnside had his own approval, but had been rejected by Saanich council, until the Blanshard Street extension was finally adopted.

Mr. Chatterton explained that the main difficulty lay in the utility poles which skirted the street. The BCE had declined to put wires underground, and the CIDC could not subsidize such an operation.

Elected by Victoria Chamber to the B.C. Chamber of Commerce were Conway Parroft and W. C. Mearns, while President M. Aubrey Kent will be the Victoria voting delegate at the forthcoming B.C. Chamber annual meeting.

Howard MacKay was appointed to the executive committee in place of William Gilmour who has left Victoria.

He said the record-breaking performance of completing the Mv Sidney, first of the ships for the mainland fast ferry service, in 12 months, will be bettered by two months on this slightly bigger vessel.

Know Any Live Fishers? They're Worth $100 Each

MONEY FUR NOTHING: If you know where you can get hold of a live fisher grab him quickly.

The Americans are buying them for $100 apiece.

A fisher is a North American member of the weasel family . . . trappers call it a "black cat" . . . and it seems they're not so rare in B.C. as they are in the U.S.

A year or so ago Frank Butler, director of the fish and game branch, was talking to a Montana wildlife colleague.

"How are you fixed for fishers?" asked the Montanan.

"We're fixed fine," said Frank.

The Montana man offered $100 for every live fisher that could be caught and delivered to his state's game areas.

Since then B.C. trappers have been fisher-crazy.

So far they've delivered about 50 . . . but not all to Montana. Washington and Oregon officials, hearing of the Montana windfall, also got into the act and offered the same price. And now Idaho wants fishers as well.

"GROOS - BOOTS" CAMPAIGN: Some time ago we had occasion to mention the fact that the Liberal candidate Capt. David Groos was being humanized in an attempt to make him one of the boys as it were in the eyes of his electorate . . .

At that time a certain section of the public prints began referring to the good captain as Davie . . . not Captain, not Mr., not even David—but just plain Davie.

This was clever.

There's something about the name Davie which conjures up a mental picture of the dashing hero or the brilliant young up-an-coming statesman while at the same time there's that air of informality.

But now they've gone one step further.

Now it's plain Dave.

"Would you be willing to have a small coffee party for Dave?" is one of the questions asked of volunteer Liberal workers. "Would you be willing to usefully dispose of 20 of Dave's calling cards to voters in the riding?"

All of which brings us around to a situation we would like to be present at should it ever occur.

What would happen, we wonder, if an Able Seaman who is a registered voter in the riding and who served under "Dave" on HMCS Ontario was to approach the candidate at a meeting and call him "Dave" to his face?

Ah, well. We probably won't hear about it.

International Trade Fair

Jewels in Replica Coming to Vancouver

VANCOUVER — Centuries of romance, intrigue and history are represented in the world's most famous collection of diamonds, coming to Vancouver for the B.C. International Trade Fair, commencing May 3.

Featuring the British crown jewels and the world's largest diamond, this pageant of jewels in replica is being presented at the fair by Canadian Pacific Airlines.

The originals of this collection are among the British crown jewels and are valued at $300,000,000. These copies are worth $75,000 according to the exhibit's owner, Miss Eveline McCullagh of New York.

Approximately 45 replicas, including crowns, tiaras, sceptres and swords, depicting the history of British royalty from the time of King Charles II, and 28 world-famous diamonds will be on display. Fairgoers will see Queen Elizabeth II's tiara, which was worn by the Queen to her coronation, and the tiara of the Queen Mother Elizabeth, which was worn by Queen Elizabeth II on her wedding day.

Three of the replicas have actually been used by royalty: the King's sceptre, containing the largest of the four Stars of Africa, the jeweled sword and the imperial state crown. These duplicates were made in time for George VI to use during rehearsals for his coronation in 1936.

The "diamonds" in the collection consist of white sapphires and special rock crystal. Some of the replicas were cut 150 years ago, but the entire collection came into being in 1937 after two years of work under the supervision of the court jewelers, the only people who have access to the real jewels.

They are exact reproductions and are identical in size, shape and color to the originals in the Tower of London.

Miss McCullagh, who has travelled throughout North America and Europe with her collection, will be on hand at the CPA booth to relate the often romantic, occasionally violent story of these jewels, some of which have changed the course of history.

The B.C. International Trade Fair is open to the public at Exhibition Park from May 3 to 13.

The accessible little lake, located just off the Trans-Canada Highway at the Henry Road entrance to Chemainus, was restocked with Rainbow fingerlings and fry by the game branch in 1958 as part of a province-wide lake rehabilitation program.

Never previously open to the public for fishing, Fuller's Lake was, up until three or four years ago, the source of water supply for the Chemainus sawmill. At that time, the company relinquished prior rights in return for an assured supply of water from he Chemainus water system, paving the way for public use and for the game branch to poison off bass and other coarse fish and restock with trout.

Trout have thrived in the lake and are now thought to be big enough and hardy enough to withstand fishing pressure.

Chemainus chamber of commerce and the rod and gun club will celebrate the occasion with a children's fishing derby May 14. All youngsters 15 and under, anywhere on the Island, will be invited to take part. Derby co-chairmen are Bob Bennie and Dave Murry.

Courtenay Faces Two-Mill Tax Hike

COURTENAY — Mayor W. C. Moore said yesterday chances are slim city taxpayers will escape a two-mill tax hike this year.

Provisional budget passed by council earlier this year set the rate at 40 mills, up one mill from 1960.

A rise of $6,000 in Courtenay school taxes reported this week will jump the tax rate another mill to 41.

Mayor Moore said 1961 expenditures already have been pared to the bone and a study of the budget in recent days holds out little hope of holding the line at the 1960 figure. Council will set the mill rate officially early in May.

BIG JUMP

Biggest jump in the school bill occurred at Comox with an additional $10,000 indicated for the village, a three-mill increase in taxes, commission chairman R. D. Ellis said.

Cumberland's school taxes will increase because of an extension of the village boundaries last year.

Duncan Man Wins Award

Canada Council announced in Ottawa yesterday that Gerald Auchinachie of Duncan had been awarded a fellowship for study towards PhD degree in humanities and fine arts.

Full fellowships carry an average value of $2,000 and travelling allowance and are tenable in Canada or abroad. Fellowships are designed to promote study of languages, literature, philosophy and history and to help provide qualified university teachers in these subjects.

GENERALS QUIT DE GAULLE SEIZE ALL ALGERIA, SAHARA

A-Test Area Taken

By UPI, AP

ALGIERS — Four French generals opposing President Charles de Gaulle announced today that troops under their command have taken over all of Algeria and the vast Sahara desert, including the French atomic-test area.

A communique signed by two former French commanders in Algeria—Gens. Raoul Salan and Maurice Challe—said a state of siege has been proclaimed in the African territory.

"All powers held by civilian authorities pass completely to the military," said the communique, which was signed also by Gens. Andre Zeller and Edmond Jouhaud.

The communique was the first indication that Salan, last reported living as a refugee in Spain, had returned to Algeria.

POLICE ALERTED

The interior ministry immediately placed police in Paris and throughout metropolitan France on a standby alert against extreme French rightists. Guards around government buildings were given special instructions to be vigilant.

Government officials were hastily summoned to their desks in the early morning hours and there was unusual activity in all offices of top police and defence officials.

TOUGH VETERANS

The French information minister said that troops of the pre-dawn coup were the tough veterans of the first Foreign Legion parachute regiment, which numbers about 4,000 men.

Challe is an air force general who formerly was commander-in-chief in Algeria. He was most recently the commander of NATO's central European forces. He resigned that post in protest against President de Gaulle's European policies.

The radio in Algiers was in the hands of the insurrectional units. It was off the air early in the morning, then began its daily broadcast with a communique signed by Challe.

The communique proclaimed a state of siege in Algeria and claimed the army had taken power throughout Algeria and the Sahara regions.

SEIZE OFFICIALS

Government officials said the insurgents had seized de Gaulle's civilian administrator, Jean Morin, and placed him under house arrest. Also under house arrest were Robert Buron, the agriculture minister who was visiting in Algiers, and General Fernand Gambiez, the military commander in the city.

The coup apparently took place in the early pre-dawn hours. The telephone lines were suspended about 5 a.m.

Government sources indicated that the soldiers moved in and took over all the main public buildings of Algiers.

The coup came as a complete surprise.

New Arrests Jam Prisons

HAVANA (Reuters) — New arrests crammed Cuba's already-packed jails Friday night as Premier Fidel Castro's return to Havana from operations against the crushed invading forces was awaited.

It was difficult to find anyone in Havana who did not know at least one person under arrest.

Wounded militiamen returning to Havana brought back news of the severity of the fighting. Newspaper photographs showed it was a savage, pitched battle between soldiers with modern weapons.

Havana was quiet and there was no real heroes' welcome for the militia coming back in their Czech-built trucks. The militia waved their rifles. Passersby simply waved back.

FEW TANKS

An almost universal conclusion was that the equipment and loyalty of Castro forces surprised the invaders, who apparently pitted a few Sherman tanks against Castro's known 50 tanks and obsolete planes against MIG fighters—the ownership of which has not yet been acknowledged by the government.

The radio painted a picture of heavy losses suffered by invaders.

Visitors to jails said living conditions for prisoners in overcrowded cells were deteriorating rapidly.

300 PRISONERS

The government named more than 300 prisoners in an announcement Friday.

The national radio earlier gave the first detailed account of fighting since last weekend's landings, lifting a curtain of secrecy that surrounded Castro's movements. It told of his field direction of an operation that forced rebels into a swamp "trap."

INVADERS PINNED

It said Castro pinned the invaders down with artillery fire on both flanks and attacked their centre with airmen, "forcing the invaders into the marshes, where they were trapped."

More than 1,350 prisoners were taken in the fighting, including Dr. Jose Miro Torres, son of counter-revolutionary leader Dr. Jose Miro Cardona; the son of Emilio Ochoa, a prominent anti-Castro leader, and three sons of industrialist millionaire Alfredo Babun.

Editor, Publisher, Historic Figure Victor Sifton Dies

WINNIPEG (CP)—Victor Sifton, one of Canada's historic newspaper figures, died suddenly late Friday a few hours after he had taken his usual active part in the day's publication of the Winnipeg Free Press. He was 64.

Mr. Sifton, member of a distinguished Canadian family who added lustre to its name in a wide variety of fields, collapsed and died in his doctor's office at the Winnipeg clinic, where he had gone for a medical checkup.

HEART ATTACK

He died of a heart attack while he was sitting in consultation with his physician.

No plans for funeral services were made immediately as Mrs. Sifton and their son, John, were both away from Winnipeg.

Mr. Sifton, editor and publisher of The Free Press and chairman of the board of F. P. Publications Limited which owns or controls seven Canadian newspapers, was in his office as usual during the morning and presided at the daily editorial conference.

After the paper had gone to press, Mr. Sifton complained of being unwell and went to the office of Dr. Louis Cherniak. He told associates he would visit the physician before going to a dinner engagement.

Albert Boothe, managing editor of The Free Press, said the newspaper head was his usual self at the editorial conference.

Two U.S. Blunders Involved In Cuban Invasion Failure

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two major intelligence miscalculations were involved in the failure of anti-Castro Cubans to regain their homeland this week, administration officials said last night.

They said U.S. officials had some doubts about the invasion. But Secretary of State Dean Rusk, Defence Secretary Robert McNamara and the Central Intelligence Agency all agreed with President Kennedy's decision not to discourage the operation.

There was disagreement between the various government agencies as to where the blame lay for intelligence miscalculations. One high source was said to have expressed the view that the entire government was at fault.

Officials said these were the points on which the intelligence came up short:

- There was a major underestimation of Castro's military strength, his ability to mobilize troops and their willingness to fight.
- Both U.S. and Cuban rebel intelligence misjudged the degree of police state control which Castro has over Cuba and which prevented a general uprising of the people.

Officials said it was not known that Castro had Soviet MIG fighter planes in flying condition.

It all began nearly a year ago when Cubans who had fled here began making plans to some day reconquer their island.

Officials insisted that no military training was done here during that period. But took place in Guatemala and presumably other Latin countries.

But the rebel leadership obtained advice here, and supplies were procured.

The Kennedy administration obviously had misgivings over the military venture. But for a variety of reasons it did not try to discourage the uprising, and publicly gave it moral support.

There had been a hope that more of Castro's military forces would defect than the few pilots who bombed their own bases.

UN Action Proves Mild

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—The UN General Assembly early today adopted a mildly-worded resolution calling on all countries to take whatever peaceful steps they can to remove the existing tension between the United States and Cuba. (See also Page 5.)

Rebel Captives Star on TV

MIAMI (UPI)—A prisoner from the anti-Castro invasion force last night gave defiant answers to the Cuban officials and newsmen questioning him on a nationwide radio and television program.

Pedro Nunez, a member of one of the island's oldest families, defended the free enterprise system despite questions apparently aimed at threatening him with execution.

One questioner told Nunez: "I would like to discuss these questions further with you after your trial, but I don't think you'll have much time to discuss anything."

Nunez, who said he defected from Castro's army in 1959, said he came to Cuba "to establish a regime of law, under the constitution of 1940."

A paratrooper named Jose Austin Bayona told his questioners he was trained in Guatemala, with some of his instructors North Americans and some Latins, and then taken to Nicaragua.

He said the paratroopers had been instructed to seize highways and territory in the area of the sea landings.

Thieves Get Camera Haul

About $1,500 worth of cameras, projectors and accessories were stolen from Hirst & Flintoff camera store, 1008 Broad, before midnight.

Detectives still were evaluating the theft at press time.

Congo Finances

Another Pitfall Facing UN

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — The United Nations fell into a new crisis early today when the 15th General Assembly defeated a measure for interim financing of the UN Congo operation.

The vote was 45 to 25 with 27 abstentions—short of the required two-thirds majority needed for approval—and it came after Canada warned that failure to support the financing measure would cause the UN Congo operation to fall to the ground.

The vote was taken after midnight — when UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold's authorization for spending in the Congo expired.

The new turn for the worse in the UN's long financial dilemma came as the 15th assembly prepared to end its session. It wasn't clear what action might be taken now to provide for the UN Congo force comprising some 17,000 men, including 280 Canadians.

But India proposed a special session of the general assembly be held next week to provide financing of the Congo operation.

Commons Roughs Up Tory 'Vision'

OTTAWA (CP) — Derision of the government's "northern vision" was alleged and denied Friday in the Commons.

The Liberals deride the vision of Northern development, said Erik Nielsen (PC—Yukon) in a long recital of expansion he said has developed north of the 60th parallel under the Progressive Conservatives.

All the Liberals have derided is the "ballyhoo" created by the government about its northern program, retorted Chesley W. Carter (L—Burin-Burgeo). After all, the Liberals had initiated the vision, creating the department of northern affairs and national resources in 1953.

The political scuffling came during study of the department's $83,000,000 spending program for the current fiscal year.

Douglas Fisher (CCF—Port Arthur) said the vision doesn't point the right way.

Mr. Fisher said resource development lags in spots a lot farther south than the Yukon and Northwest Territories.

Conservative supporters stoutly defended Northern Affairs Minister Dinsdale, appointed last October and facing his first Commons examination, against a suggestion Thursday night that he hasn't done much.

It was made by Mr. Fisher who expressed disappointment with Mr. Dinsdale's record so far in a department that the CCF MP said needs vigorous leadership.

Bumps, Bruises, Break

Comparing bumps and breaks resulting from collision of their two bicycles Thursday are Larry Davis, 8, of 1397 St. David, left, and John Pearson, 7, of 1248 St. David. John, who broke small bone in his wrist, wanted to see bump on Larry's head that put him in Royal Jubilee Hospital with possible concussion. Both are doing well.—(Colonist photo.)
